FINLAND OPPOSES PACT WITH RUSSIA

Balloting On Citrus Agreements Is Light

MAIL VOTES EXPECTED TO SWELL TOTAL

Canvass Of Election Slated Monday

WESLACO—Balloting for the most part was extremely light Saturday as the referendum on the proposed new citrus marketing agreements came to a close and fate of the program was not expected to be known until about Tuesday when a preliminary report on the canvass of ballots is anticipated. Lack of a heavy vote was taken by some as an indication that the strong opposition may have been successful in its campaigning.

Inspection of the state maturity division conducted the referendum at all except two points, Santa Rosa and Rio Hondo, where no fruit testing stations are located.

Vote By Mail
More than 8,000 ballots were mailed out to resident and non-resident owners of citrus orchards early this month and the light vote Saturday at polls maintained in 17 communities was thought to be due to the fact that most of those who planned to vote had returned their ballots by mail.

Those in charge of the voting places were not charged with the duty of counting the ballots but were to mail them to Robert C. Evans of Weslaco, field representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and to L. E. Pratt of Harlingen, chief of the maturity division of the state department of agriculture.

Pratt and Evans were due to meet Monday and begin a canvass of the ballots which were to be checked for duplications and discrepancies. Some ballots returned by mail did not have full information such as tonnage produced last season and other data required. Some were not even signed but in instances where it was possible to return ballots to senders for correction before close of the referendum this was done.

Pensmark Important
Ballots postmarked before midnight Saturday will be counted in the results.

It will not be known until next week how many of the co-operators cast blank votes for their members. A survey by the Star revealed that only three associations had definitely decided to cast blank votes, permitted under state and federal laws with five or six undecided. Where an association acted for its members, individual

Nevada Newspaper Sold By Tichenor

RENO—The Nevada State Journal, only morning newspaper in the silver state, announces the sale of this 60-year-old newspaper to Merritt C. Spield, Palo Alto, Calif., who will take possession November 1, just one month after his purchase of the Reno Evening Gazette.

Spield said Joseph McDonald, veteran Nevada newspaperman, would become editor of the Journal when the paper becomes a member of Spield Newspapers, Incorporated, national service organization for his transcontinental group of newspapers.

The Journal, Reno's oldest newspaper, was purchased from McHenry Tichenor, former Harlingen, Texas, publisher, who has returned to Texas.

Rose Bowl Bid Goes To Democratic Party

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—The Democratic National Committee has been invited to hold the 1940 presidential convention in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, site of the annual New Year's intercollegiate football game.

W. B. Stewart, Los Angeles purchasing agent, has taken an option on the Bowl, which has a seating accommodation of approximately 90,000, and has outlined to the Democratic National Committee a financial set-up wherein, he estimates, the party could realize up to $1,000,000 by holding the convention here.

SOUTH TEXAS OFFICERS SEEK FOUR IN ESCAPE

SUGARLAND—(AP)—A bold daylight break, abetted by confederates familiar with prison routine, freed four long-time, heavily-armed convicts from the central prison farm near here Saturday.

South Texas was the hunting grounds of an army of officers seeking traces of the four men, and their fellow-plotters who operated from the outside—two men and a woman.

The inmates overpowered a guard who was escorting them on a customary Saturday morning stroll, dashed to a spot where the three confederates waited in a black sedan, and fled.

Officers theorized the confederates had plenty of arms and ammunition, and a change into civilian clothes, ready for the fugitives.

Those escaping were:

Aubrey Scully, 41, a prison barber serving 50 years for robbery from Dallas county; Leo White, 33, a building tender serving life from Harris and Washington counties for robbery and robbery with firearms; V. W. Harvey, 45, an assistant building tender serving 99 years from Know county, and Joe Marvin Burleson, 31, a hospital steward serving 99 years for kidnaping and robbery from Tarrant county.

Capt. R. J. Flanagan of the prison farm described the break:

"Those fellows, because they work inside all the time, are taken for a walk, so they can get a little fresh air and sunshine, about twice a week. Saturday usually is one of the days.

"While they were walking near the Brazos River bank a few hundred yards from their quarters, they suddenly grabbed the guard, Lee R. Parton, tied him with shoestrings, and left him near the bank.

"They took his rifle and pistol with them, and met their confederates' car about half a mile away in a field."

The men were dressed in white shirt and regulation gray pants.

City Manager Denies 'Jobs For Votes'

BROWNSVILLE—City Manager Robert Runyon, testifying in his $50,000 libel suit against two Valley publishing companies, Saturday denied he had sent anybody to offer Prudencio Hinojosa a city job.

Runyon told a jury in 103rd District Court that an affidavit signed by Hinojosa, former city watchman, was "untrue." He testified he had not sent Alex Champion, city policeman and poundmaster, to see Hinojosa, and that he had not sent anybody else.

"I never promised anybody a job for a vote in my life," Runyon said.

Recess Is Called
The Brownsville city manager was still on the stand Saturday afternoon when Judge James S. Graham called a recess at the end of the second day of the trial. At that time he had been testifying for an hour and 25 minutes on direct examination by one of his attorneys, R. A. Hightower. Associated with Hightower in Runyon's case are Noble G. Cofer of Brownsville and R. E. Cofer of Austin.

Runyon will take the stand again Monday morning, when trial is resumed, for cross-examination by Rufus Ransome and H. L. Yates, defense counsel.

The city manager was the 14th witness to appear Saturday. His testimony climaxed an eventful day in the suit, outgrowth of the April, 1938, schoolboard election. Frequent clashes between opposing counsel and a sudden stop in the proceedings when a half dozen witnesses could not be immediately located, punctuated the otherwise steady procession of plaintiffs' evidence and testimony.

Damages Are Claimed
Runyon contends he was damaged by certain material published in the Brownsville Herald and the Sunday Star-Monitor-Herald, at the height of the schoolboard election. The defense maintains the matter published constituted fair and just comment.

The Hinojosa affidavit was traced from one person to another during the day as witnesses revived the exciting election campaigns of 1937 and 1938. A number of public officials, former officials, and ex-candidates for public office were in the courtroom. In addition to tracing the affidavit, the plaintiffs' counsel completed what was termed "establishment of true ownership" of the publishing companies involved in the suit.

Many Are Questioned
Besides Runyon, the witnesses who appeared Saturday were: H. R. Hudson, Brownsville; J. M. Stein, Brownsville, editor of the Brownsville Herald; Frank Walker, Brownsville, secretary of the two publishing companies in the suit, and employee of H. R. Hudson.

Antonio Tamayo Jr., clerk in the office of the Brownsville Independent School District.

J. P. Maher, secretary of the Brownsville Independent School District.

Ramon Munoz, Brownsville, notary public before whom the Hinojosa affidavit was executed.

Alex Champion, Brownsville city policeman and poundmaster.

Roy Tait, Edouche, defeated candidate in the 1938 school election.

George Mansur, Brownsville, secretary of the Brownsville House.

Described by the Army Ordnance Association as an "important new development," this anti-aircraft gun operates under the same principles as a machine gun, firing 120 shots a minute. British Vessel Sunk; 830 Men Feared Lost

GERMAN SUB GIVEN BLAME

Details Are Lacking On Sea Battle

LONDON—(AP)—Sinking of the Royal Oak, one of Great Britain's 12 battleships, with perhaps 830 of her men was announced Saturday to a nation steeled for a German war in earnest.

It was the second major German stroke of the war against British sea power to be announced here and the indicated number of casualties far exceeded the 515 men lost when a German submarine sank the aircraft carrier Courageous September 17.

In disclosing the sinking of the 22,150-ton warship of Jutland fame, the Admiralty said only that it was believed she was the victim of "U-boat action."

Subsequently, in late afternoon, the Admiralty said the Royal Oak's complement approximated 1,200 officers and men and, as far as then was known, approximately 370 had been saved.

Lists of survivors were being given out from time to time. One of them contained the name of the Royal Oak's commander, Capt. W. G. Benn.

The Admiralty did not disclose where or when the disaster came to the Royal Oak, which was completed in May, 1916, and was credited with sinking four German ships in the World War battle of Jutland without damage to herself.

But she was attached at the outbreak of the war to the second battle squadron of the home fleet and thus presumably was in the North Sea.

The Admiralty's announcement came only a few hours after it had asserted the British destroyed three German submarines "on Friday the 13th."

Of these it was reported Saturday that two were of the large, ocean-going type.

The naval correspondent of the Evening News called the loss of the Royal Oak "a bad blow for the navy" but "with the overwhelming supremacy in capital ships already in commission—nine new battleships are now building—not a crippling blow."

With the Royal Oak gone Britain has 14 capital ships—11 battleships and three battle cruisers—and France 7. Germany has only five, including three "pocket battleships" of 10,000 tons each. The United States has 15 capital ships.

The nation read the huge black headlines against the background of the week's diplomatic developments—Prime Minister Chamberlain's rejection of Adolf Hitler's peace proposals as a basis for a "real peace" and German indications that war would be launched in earnest against the west.

Poison was believed to have been the cause of death, according to police.

NEW YORK—(AP)—C. J. Hardy, president of American Car and Foundry Company, announced Saturday the company has unfilled orders of nearly $25,000,000 compared with $2,475,000 on May 11, 1939.

All's Quiet On Western Front Now

By DREW MIDDLETON ON THE FRONT LINE WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE—(AP)—(Passed by Field Censor)—Inside the blockhouse, it was very quiet. The wind rustled the papers just ahead and flapped a ragged towel hanging on the barbed wire.

You could hear the clump of soldiers' feet in the rear and the soft chuck-chuck of a shovel biting moist earth. The Irish sergeant said:

"This is it, sir. This is where we stand."

The front line is not an exciting or inspiring place. No shells whine. No machine-gun chatter. For a month now men have been working on this line built by the French and now reinforced by the British.

They will not say that all things are ready, but they will say: "Here's where we stand and Old Fritz will have to be damned good to push us back."

I peered through a periscope in the blockhouse. Ahead, past the barbed wire which caught the feeble glint of the sun, there was nothing but grass and trees. Off to the left a cow munched solemnly. Overhead larks flew by singing bravely. Inside the reinforced concrete which can stand a heavy shell, the place smelled cleanly of oil and grease on the guns.

From the top of the blockhouse, I could see the front line for perhaps a quarter of a mile on either side.

Deep ditches built to catch and hold a tank ran along it. Before the tank-traps and in back was more wire. It had a fresh-from-the-factory appearance. It had a taut look.

Twenty years from now many farms will be fenced with this wire. The wire French farmers hereabouts use today was picked up from old battlefields of another war.

Hitler Said Establishing Headquarters On Western Front

NAZI LEADER NEAR BORDER OF BELGIUM

French Wreck Rhine Railway Bridges

PARIS—(AP)—Sudden and unexpected inactivity of the German side of the front lines was followed Saturday by reports from neutral countries that Adolf Hitler and Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, Nazi chief of the high command of the armed forces were establishing headquarters on the western front.

These reports did not say the German Fuehrer and General Keitel were at the front, but that Hitler's headquarters was being set up at Aachen, on the Belgian frontier, and that General Keitel had taken personal command on the western front.

Some military experts took these reports as an indication the long-expected German offensive might be in preparation.

Few Patrols Active

The high command communique Saturday night reported the only German patrols active were in two sectors on either side of the heavily fortified German industrial city of Saarbrücken.

The communique said these patrols south of Saarbrücken were the Saar river cuts into France had been reported as well as those operating west of the river.

Heavy Artillery Fire

The heaviest artillery fire was reported southwest of Saarbrücken in the Warndt Forest area.

During the Afternoon, Premier

Daladier conferred with General Maurice Gustave Gamelin, allied commander-in-chief at the war ministry.

Bridges Are Destroyed

As a precautionary move, the French destroyed three of the five railway bridges over that section of the Rhine which forms the French-German boundary, particularly to guard against a surprise German attack on the southern flank.

The northern flank of the front between the Moselle and the Rhine has been suspiciously quiet since Thursday.

Military dispatches said French engineers dynamited three bridges Wednesday after heavy concentrations of German troops were seen behind the Siegfried Line fortifications in the Black Forest and near Karlsruhe farther north.

The only two railway bridges across this part of the Rhine now left are those between Starsbourg and Kehl, which is considered an outstanding architectural and engineering feat, and one at Huningue where the French and German frontier meets at Switzerland.

British Troops Arrive

These bridges cover the two main lines of penetration for either a German or a French offensive, should either decide to try and force a Rhine crossing.

Meanwhile British troops moved steadily toward the front and regiment after regiment of French artillery took up their positions against the possibility that Germany might try an offensive before winter sets in.

The French said the advance of their troops early in the war gave commands enough elbow room for the engineers to dig in and bring up heavy batteries without fear of German reprisals. The thoroughness of French winter vigil was indicated in all reports from the front.

The French asserted the value of their gains thus far as crippling the Saarland mineral deposits and industries, gaining maneuvering ground and favorable defensive positions and putting the next military move up to Germany.

votes of the members of such organizations will not be counted. Most of the associations which cast block votes made some sort of canvass to determine sentiment of their membership.

Both new state and federal marketing agreements were at stake in the referendum which began October 1, and closed Saturday, October 14. The proposed new agreements contained provisions for restricting shipments of grapefruit and oranges by grades and sizes only. The present marketing agreements containing provisions for volume control as well as by grade and size, will pass out of existence no matter what outcome of the referendum may be. If the new agreements meet with favor of the growers they will be submitted to the shippers for their signatures.

If more than 50 per cent of the shippers sign following approval by the growers, the new agreements will succeed the old ones otherwise there will be no further control under a marketing agreements program.

Grade and size regulations are in effect at this time under the present marketing agreements. Oranges are restricted to U. S. No. 3 grade and better with no limitations on sizes and all grapefruit is restricted to U. S. No. 3 grade and better and to size 90 and larger for seeded and size 95 and larger for seedless varieties.

These regulations went into effect October 1 and will expire October 28. A meeting of the Growers Industry Committee and Shippers Marketing Committee is scheduled for Wednesday, October 25 to consider regulations for the succeeding period unless outcome of the referendum indicates defeat of the new agreements.

The control committees would liquidate all funds and property holdings if the proposed new agreements fail of success.

T. A. Kinder, county commissioner for the Brownsville precinct.

G. D. Sutton, Brownsville, real estate dealer.

Lee B. James, Brownsville, real estate dealer.

Runyon is On Stand

Runyon testified he was born in 1881, and that he has lived in Brownsville thirty years. He said he was a photographer by profession, operated a studio for 16 years and was in the curio business for 12 years.

As to the curio business, Runyon stated it had been closed in May 1938, and that it had been operated by his wife and a daughter since he was appointed city manager. He said that tourists were the principal customers, but that people who brought tourists to the store were "his friends over the Valley."

Runyon said he was "horrified" and "very much embarrassed" and was "caused a lot of worry" by publication of the Hinojosa affidavit and other articles involved in the suit. The city manager said he had many close friends in Brownsville and that he had to make many explanations. He declared that when he traveled up the Valley, persons he met called attention to his "being written up." Anonymous persons called him on the phone and harassed him, the city manager said, and he had the telephone taken out.

He lost weight, sleep and appetite, and developed a general run-down condition requiring care of a doctor, Runyon declared, after publication of the affidavit and articles. He said he weighed 160 pounds and then dropped to 130 pounds. Since then he has regained 15 pounds, he stated.

Instructions Revealed

In reply to questions by his counsel, Runyon said he had issued instructions to the effect that city automobiles were not to be used for carrying voters and that as far as he knew they were not so used. He said he had nothing to do with selection of school trustee candidates, that he "hardly knew a school election was going on" until he read the editorials in the newspapers. He remained at his office from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. on the day of the election, after having cast his ballot on his way to work, he said. He returned to the polls after 5 p. m., he said.

Reporters "harassed" him by approaching him several times a day, during the heat of the campaign, the city manager said, and they asked him "all kinds of foolish questions," and "embarrassing him" while other persons were in the office.

"Did you invite them?" Hightower asked.

"No, they just walked in," Runyon replied.

Machine Is Denied

Runyon testified that some statements given reporters were published correctly. He denied that a "machine" existed to "put over the school election," as well as a series of assertions read from the Brownsville Herald by his attorney. They related to a "spoils system," "perpetuation of office," "splitting" of jobs and creation of new ones.

During this portion of the testimony, Attorney Yates objected several times that the witness was "making a speech."

Asked about the firing of Prudencio Hinojosa, Runyon said that Hinojosa had a job at a city park, and that he was not needed.

"He had only been working about a month or so," Runyon stated. "He was put on during the election (by the preceding administration)."

"Had No Organization"

He declared that "no city machine" existed, in reply to a statement read to him from the Herald. "We had no organization," Runyon said.

As to "connivance with union men"—also read from the newspaper—Runyon said: "I have never talked to union men about politics in my life."

Runyon denied that this administration had "failed to give protection to property" or that it had "encouraged lawlessness." Both replies were to statements read from the papers.

"There is less lawlessness now in Brownsville than there has been in 25 years," Runyon declared.

Cooperation Is Told

He denied he was "unsympathetic to new capital," but that on the contrary, he had "done everything to get new capital."

"Is it true that you and Dunkel-berg run the city commission," Hightower asked the witness.

"No, sir," was the reply.

Runyon said he and the commission have worked together in full co-operation.

He denied there had been any attempt by the city administration to gain control of the schools, or that he had attempted to build a political machine.

The questioning was carried up to the 1938 municipal elections, scheduled for November 7, but for which no opposition candidates have filed.

H. R. Hudson, Brownsville, banker and publisher, resumed his testimony as the trial entered its second day Saturday. Soon after he took the stand the jury was excused while attorneys argued admissibility of evidence offered by the plaintiff.

Three legal instruments were involved.

1. The Hubert R. Hudson Trust agreement. The trust, set up by Hudson for his three children, is a shareholder in some of the Hudson investments.

2. Contract between the Valley Publishing Company and Carl C. Magee, former editor-in-chief of the Herald, Monitor and Star.

3. The trust agreement transferring 60 per cent of the Herald and Star stock to the employees of the newspapers.

Two Are Permitted

Judge Graham ruled against introduction of the first, but permitted the other two.

Further questioning of Hudson by Attorney Hightower revealed that the new corporations for the Star and Herald do not own any of the real estate, buildings, or equipment at the plants, but are operating corporations, working on a contract to operate the newspapers. The stock transferred to employees did not represent ownership of plant or equipment, which remained as property of Hudson and his wife. The employees trust agreement gives them a share in the profits when declared in the form of dividends.

Stein followed Hudson on the stand, testifying for about ten minutes. He substantiated Hudson's testimony relative to receiving the Hinojosa affidavit and its subsequent appearance in the Herald.

Recess Is Ordered

A recess was ordered by Judge Graham after Stein left the stand, and six witnesses of the plaintiff, called by the bailiff, failed to appear. All the witnesses were under subpoena since February when the trial was continued. Hightower protested that the witnesses were under subpoena and complained over their non-appearance, referring to them as "adverse witnesses." Ransom jumped to his feet, protesting that remark, when a recess was called to locate the missing witnesses.

After the recess, Frank Walker, secretary-treasurer of the Valley Publishing Company, and holding the same office in the re-organized corporations, took the stand.

Walker testified he had been in Hudson's employ for thirteen years, in various capacities, including that of secretary, private secretary, and office manager. He said that stock for the new publishing corporations were paid in by Mr. and Mrs. Hudson. During Walker's testimony, Attorney Ransom objected to Hightower's repeated reference to "a $200,000 corporation" and "a $2,500 corporation." Judge Graham instructed Hightower to identify the corporations by their names rather than the amount of their capital stock.

Envelope Is Traced

Antonio Tamayo, Jr., clerk for the tax collector of the Brownsville Independent School District, testified that J. P. Maher, school board secretary, had sent him to Joe Acevedo's office for an envelope, that he got it and delivered it to Maher. He said he did not know what the envelope contained.

Maher, the next witness, said he had held his position with the school board since 1931. He related, in response to questioning, that he first saw the Hinojosa affidavit about a week before the school election. At that time it had not yet been signed or executed, he said. Maher declared he got the unsigned document from Jesse Sloss, stenographer in the office of Rentfro, Rentfro and Rentfro, law firm headed by Mayor R. B. Rentfro. Maher said he turned it over to Fausto Yturria, Brownsville lawyer, and that later Yturria called and told him that the document was at Acevedo's office, still unsigned. Maher asserted he then turned it over to someone—he did not remember when—and when he got it again it had been signed and notarized. He took it to the school board, he said, and that was the last he saw of it. Hudson testified Friday that the affidavit had been handed to him in Creager's office.

Notary Is Called

Ramon Munoz, the notary public who executed the affidavit, said he was called by Victorino Salinas to notarize an instrument. Munoz accompanied him to the home of Prudencio Hinojosa, where the affidavit was signed by Hinojosa. Salinas is Hinojosa's stepson.

Sharp clashes between opposing counsel occurred during the testimony of Alex Champion, city police officer and poundmaster, the last witness of the morning session. Champion, who is mentioned in the Hinojosa affidavit, denied that the name of Robert Runyon had been mentioned in any conversation between him and Hinojosa. Defense attorneys blocked attempts of Champion to tell of conversations with a man named Jose Maria Lopez, who occupies a room at the Hinojosa home.

Search To Be Made

For Amelia Earhart

HONOLULU—(AP)—A new search for Amelia Earhart was announced Saturday by Eric Hanner who said he would leave Honolulu Monday in the 55 foot schooner Valkyrie.

Hanner said he would spend a year in the South Seas searching for Miss Earhart and Edward Noonan, who were lost in the South Pacific July 2, 1937, while on a flight around the world.

Hanner said he was convinced that Miss Earhart is still alive, probably marooned on some South Sea isle.

He supported Runyon for mayor.

Two days later, he added, he talked with Runyon and the conversation settled the questions in his mind.

On cross-examination, James said he now thinks as much of Runyon as he ever did, and that he has supported him since the affidavit and articles appeared just as he did before they appeared.

Stein was recalled briefly to the stand by the plaintiff's counsel and questioned on circulation figures of the Herald and the Star-Monitor-Herald. Stein said the Herald's circulation averaged between 6,500 and 7,500 and that of the Star-Monitor-Herald between 16,000 and 18,000.

After a brief recess, Runyon was called to the witness stand at 2:35 p. m.

moured with a 13-inch belt of steel to protect her vital parts and deep bulges extending almost up to the gun batteries as a protection against submarine attack.

How a submarine was able to reach her if she was shielded as usual by accompanying destroyers puzzled naval observers.

London naval correspondents a week ago, however, suggested that the urgency of providing British convoys for merchant ships bearing vital supplies for Britain might require the navy to take heavy risks.

The British press prominently displayed reports that Turkey and Soviet Russia had reached agreement on a pact in harmony with Turkey's undertakings to Britain and France in the mutual assistance agreements among the latter three.

Giuseppe Bastianini, new Italian Ambassador to London, arrived in a special car sent to Folkestone by Lord Halifax, British Foreign Secretary.

It was explained this act of diplomatic courtesy was to save the envoy "the delay which most cross-channel passengers have to undergo in these times."

Important Southern Production Extension Seen For Rincon

STEADY WORK CONTINUES IN OTHER FIELDS

Developments Seen At Good Pace

McALLEN—An important southern extension of production in the Rincon field in eastern Starr County and steady development in the La Gloria field in southwestern Jim Wells and northern Brooks County featured drilling reports in proven South Texas fields Saturday. Development programs continued in several other fields in the southernmost five counties of Texas but on a smaller scale.

New producers were turned into the tanks in the Colorado and Kelsey fields in Jim Hogg and Brooks Counties, while only a few wildcats were under way in the entire area. One important wildcat in northern Starr was abandoned dry.

W. R. Davis and Company and Sun Oil Company are carrying on development at Rincon at the present time, three Davis rigs being at work.

Sand Is Cored

About 3,500 feet south of the field's crude discovery well, Davis and Company No. B-3 Slick Estate, Survey 232, cored sand at 4,170-86 feet which yielded 650 feet of oil and 175 pounds working pressure on 20-minute drill stem test. Operators continued coring for the deeper sands in the field, but this test promised an important extension of the producing area in a slightly shallower sand, typical of South Texas fields.

About 1,300 feet south of discovery, Davis & Co. No. A-1 Slick Estate, Survey 229, cored sand with gas and oil odors and broken with small shale breaks at 3,522-59 feet, but drill stem tests showed only mud and practically no pressure. Oil sand at 4,183-91 feet showed a little oil and salt water on drill stem test, while the expected regular field sand at 4,295 to 4,301 feet yielded only a little oily mud on drill stem test. Operators were ready to cement seven-inch casing on bottom at 4,329 feet.

Davis and Company No. B-2 Slick Estate, Survey 528, about 6,500 feet southwest of the field's distillate discovery and more than three miles southwest of the crude discovery, cored sand at 3,839-59 feet and was preparing to run drill stem test.

Discovery Offset Seen

A west offset to the field's crude discovery, Sun Oil Company No. 1 Lyons, Survey 225, cored a little sand at 4,066-09 feet and at 4,303-07 feet. Drill stem tests showed a little oily mud and operators had cored a total depth of 4,382 feet, where electrical survey was run.

In the La Gloria field in southwestern Jim Wells county and northern Brooks county, Magnolia Petroleum Company had four wells under way in that promising new area.

Magnolia's No. 1 E. H. Stotze, Lot 16, Block 16, La Gloria Subdivision, Los Olmos y Loma Blanca Grant, was drilling in hard shale below 6,175 feet after picking up gas sands at 5,330-35 feet, 5,565-65 feet and 5,966-16 feet. Location is about 3,500 feet north of the field's distillate discovery, Magnolia's No. 1 Sam Maus.

No Shows Reported

Magnolia's No. 1 Hornsby Brothers, Lot 5, Block 16, La Gloria, a north offset to the distillate discovery, was drilling around 5,500 feet with no shows reported.

Magnolia's No. 1 W. C. Hornsby a new location in Lot 17, Block 10, La Gloria, was rigging up, 585 feet from the south and 608 feet from the east lines of Lot 17.

Magnolia's No. 1 Vivian Rust, Lot 14, Block 11, La Gloria, 3,500 feet southwest of the crude discovery in the field, Magnolia's No. 1 Dale Maus, was making hole past 2,650 feet.

Two new producers had been turned into storage in the Kelsey field in Jim Hogg-Brooks counties, and two others were in the tanks in the Colorado field in western Jim Hogg.

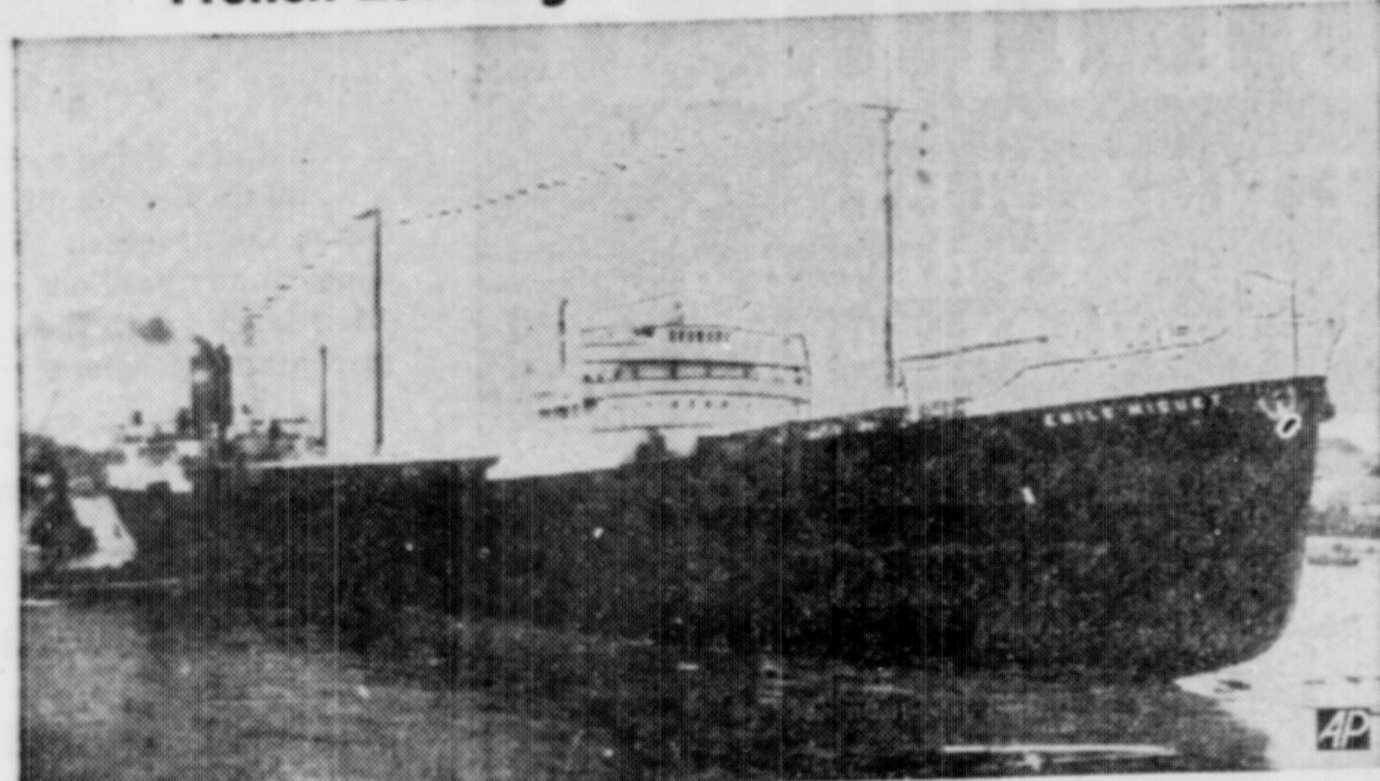

87 Barrels Guaged

Humble's No. 16 Kelsey-Bass, San Rafael Grant, Jim Hogg County, 6,500 feet north of the Kelsey discovery, guaged 87 barrels daily on 7-64-inch tubing choke with 600 pounds tubing working pressure and 700 pounds closed-in casing pressure, from sand at 4,732-38 feet.

Humble's No. 28 J. C. McGill, La Blanca Grant, Brooks Co., about 7,000 feet north of discovery and 1,000 feet north of production, was an assured producer but no guage was available. The well was completed in sands at 4,717-29 feet and 4,742-47 feet.

In the same field, Humble's No. 27 J. C. McGill, 7,000 feet north of discovery, was drilling below 3,000 feet, while Humble's No. 29 J. C. McGill, 8,200 feet northeast of discovery and 1,000 feet north of production, was drilling around 3,500 feet. Humble's No. 30 McGill and

French Lose Big Tanker Off Irish Coast

The American liner, President Harding, reported it found the French tanker, Emile Miquet (above), one of the largest tankers afloat, in flames, and that the crew apparently had drowned off the Irish coast. The tanker captain, Robert Anardie, mailed his will to a relative before sailing September 17 from Corpus Christi, Texas, with a load of crude and casinghead gasoline.

No. 31 McGill were both locations, the latter being the newest. It was 1,796 feet north and 2,332 feet east of the southeast corner of the Kelsey-Bass Ranch, and an inside location.

In the Colorado field, two new producers were reported, two new wells were drilling and two new locations were made.

The new producers were: K. D. Harrison et al's No. A-4 F. G. Trevino, Survey 38, 3,000 feet north of discovery, which guaged 122 barrels daily on 7-64-inch tubing choke with 50 pounds tubing working pressure from sand at 3,063-70 feet; and Henshaw Bros. No. B-1 M. G. Martinez, in the northeast corner of Survey 38, 13,000 feet north of discovery. This well widened the field several hundred feet, being located west of the Humble No. 1 King Ranch-Colorado, which extended production nearly a mile north several weeks ago. The Henshaw producer flowed 80 barrels daily on 7-64-inch tubing choke with 125 pounds tubing working pressure and 300 pounds closed-in casing pressure through casing perforations (24 shots) at 3,014-22 feet. The hole was bottomed at 3,044 feet and 5 1/2-inch o. d. casing was cemented at 3,040 feet. The sand body was logged at 3,011-25 feet.

About 2,000 feet north of the Colorado discovery, K. D. Harrison et al's No. A-2 F. G. Trevino, Survey 38, cemented 10 3/4-inch o. d. survey drilling past 2,200 feet.

Two New Locations

Henshaw Brothers No. B-2 M. G. Martinez, Survey 38, about 13,600 feet north of discovery and 600 feet north of production, was coring for the field sand around 3,010 feet.

The two new locations were J. H. Meek, Jr. et al No. 1 F. G. Trevino, 330 feet from the east and 1,650 feet from the north lines of Survey 38, and the Meek et al No. 2 F. G. Trevino, 330 feet out of the southeast corner of Survey 37.

In the Sun field in northeastern Starr County, Sun Oil Co. No. 3 Geologist Speer, Survey 238, about 9,800 feet west and a little north of discovery, twisted-off and lost 80 feet of drill-stem in the hole, bottomed at 5,485 feet. Operators cemented 5 1/2-inch o. d. casing around 5,200 feet and will make production test of field sands cored at 4,955-74 feet and 4,889-495 feet.

Core Past 3,100 Feet

Two wells were under way in the Sullivan City field in western Hidalgo County.

At the northeast corner of the producing area, Fols Oil Company No. E-1 Anna Sheldon, Share 12, Port 41, Reynosa Jurisdiction, cored the Samfordyce field's Wheeler sand, hard and tight, at 2,861-70 feet and the Barlow sand at 2,991-3,001, which was also hard and tight. After running electrical survey to 2,971 feet, operators were coring past 3,100 feet.

At the north edge of Sullivan City production, Rowen and Hope et al's No. 1 V. G. Chapa, 330 feet from the south and 990 feet from the east lines of Tract 238, Portion 40, Reynosa Jurisdiction, was drilling around 2,800 feet.

Additional Tests

In the Weslaco distillate field, Atlantic Oil and Refining Company No. 1 American-Rio Grande, Farm Tract 786, Llano Grande Grant, was being finished additional production tests by the Weslaco Corporation, headed by Edward Galt of Ardmore, Okla. The company is making the production tests of various sands in the well to determine the possibility for future development of the field and possible construction of a recycling plant. Sands at 8,618-42 feet, the discovery sand, and at 8,650-70 and 8,100-50 feet have been tested thus far, but engineers have not completed compilation of production details.

Promises Fight

Field Marshal Gustav Mannerheim, above, aged leader of Finland's army of approximately 200,000, declared that he thought the world "knows our attitude regarding the country's freedom and defense. Observers will find strength and steadfastness behind the calmness that is shown." He made his statement in Helsinki while Finns and Russians conferred in Moscow.

INDUSTRIES ARE PLANNED

Britain May Support Canada Empire

NEW YORK—(AP)—Leading Wall Street financial sources said Saturday the British government is planning to spend up to $3,000,000,000 to create in Canada a great industrial empire capable of supplying much of Britain's needs for a long war.

Such a plant program could make Canada a key military sphere during the war, these Wall Street sources said, and could with proper financing be converted after the war into an important part of the western hemisphere trade economy.

Not less than half a billion dollars is available for early use in the plan, it was said.

Size To Be Set
The size of the program would be determined by two factors—the effectiveness of German aircraft against Great Britain's factories, and the amount of necessary material which can be imported from the United States.

Negotiations have already been begun, they said, by representatives of the British War Supplies Commission and U. S. industrial concerns including General Motors and Consolidated Aircraft.

Concurrent discussions, they said, have taken place in Washington diplomatic circles, and in the financial sector here, where England and France are reported to have not less than $5,000,000,000 and possibly as much as $15,000,000,000 available resources (including commercial credits which might be limited by congressional action.)

Factories Planned
The conversations with industrialists, it was said, look to the establishment in Canada of new factories, owned by Canadian-chartered subsidiaries of the U. S. companies to produce in order of priority what Britain's war machine needs most.

Construction of the plants, according to tentative plans, would be financed, they said, by one of the methods used by Britain here during the World War, most probably by loans from the British government payable out of profits over a period of years, unpaid balances cancellable upon conclusion of an earlier peace.

England was represented as being fairly well stocked with supplies and war material for a period of months, but laying plans to cover needs for a period of years, in event the war should be a long one.

In addition to large stored stocks of needed articles, England was said to have nearly completed in Great Britain a factory decentralization plan, under which all key items are manufactured in not less than three plants, geographically separated, so that destruction of one, or even two, would not interfere vitally with the flow of production.

TEXAN HITS PROPOSAL OF ARMED MOVE

Lundeen Is Criticized By Connally

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Lundeen (R-Minn.), suggested during Senate neutrality debate Saturday that the United States seize British possessions in the Caribbean in payment for the war debts and let himself in for a denunciatory barrage from administration supporters.

In the course of a speech opposing repeal of the arms embargo, Lundeen said that if United States armed forces took over the British West Indies "there wouldn't be a shot fired" because of the European conflict.

"They (England and France) are pretty busy on the western front," he observed.

When he had concluded, white-haired Senator Connally (D-Tex.), arose to speak on behalf of embargo repeal and promptly lashed out at Lundeen's proposition.

Lundeen Criticized
"He's opposed to war," Connally observed acidly. "But he wants us to send our navy down to take the Bahamas by armed force—the man of peace! If we wanted these islands, the way to get them would be to negotiate for them at the conference table by peaceful means."

"It seems to me we've been sitting around the conference table for 20 years," Lundeen interjected. Connally asked Lundeen to confirm that he had advocated taking the islands by force while England was fighting Germany.

"I'm thinking about the United States, not the position of England," the Minnesotan declared. "These are American islands, we need them for naval bases and air bases, we don't want Germany to get them, and now's the time for us to get them."

Russia Act Cited
"Now that England has a knife at her throat," Connally supplemented. "Now's a lofty time for a great nation like ours to take them."

"It reminds me," put in Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.), "of what Molotov of Russia told Latvia and Finland and the other Baltic nations—we need them, therefore no matter what happens, we're justified in taking them."

"Why not take France's possessions in the West Indies, too?" Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.), contributed. "I don't know whether Italy has any islands down there, but if she has, she owes us money and let's take them too."

Discussion Terminated
"Certainly," Connally agreed. "Why not go over and take Ethiopia and settle some of our population there?"

At length Connally terminated the discussion by saying he wanted to "express my utter dissent" to the Lundeen project.

"Although Great Britain might for the moment not defend her possession," he said. "She would as soon as she was able to."

When suggesting that the United States should take over Britain's West Indian possessions, Lundeen made no direct reference to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's statement in a radio address Friday night that the United States, sooner or later, must "demand the freedom of this continent and its surrounding islands from the dictates of European powers."

Freak Calf Is Thriving

Eighteen months ago, on the ranch of Eligio Garcia, 14 miles west of Rachel, in Brooks county, to a grade Brahma heifer was born a calf, healthy and kicking, but without a neck. The heifer is seen in the photo above with Tommy Cameron, San Benito. Since she has no neck, the heifer has to kneel to eat, but otherwise is normal, can trot and lope, and feels mean with a rope around what should be her neck. It is the first of its kind recorded in South Texas, so far as ranchers have been able to find.

B.J.C. Authorized To Train 10 Pilots

BROWNSVILLE—Ten Brownsville junior college students—perhaps one of them a girl—are going to become aviation pilots, thanks to a lift from Uncle Sam via the Civil Aeronautics authority.

The CAA announced Saturday that the college had been designated as a school for training aviators, and that it has been allocated a unit of ten students, according to a wire from Congressman Milton H. West.

The government is subsidizing the course in line with a general program over the country for developing young flyers qualified with private pilot licenses.

Mauldin Aircraft, Brownsville, headed by Les Mauldin, was the only bidder on supplying the ground and flying instructions, and it is taken for granted that the instructions will be supplied by this firm. Mr. Mauldin was in Mexico delivering a plane Saturday and could not be reached.

Thirty BJC students—29 boys and one girl—have applied for the course, according to E. C. Dodd, head of the local school system. Betty Bohner, San Benito, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bohner, is girl asking for the course. Whether girls are eligible for this training was not known here.

The applicants must be regularly enrolled BJC students and sophomores will be given preference. Under CAA regulations, cost of the course to students will be $40 to cover medical examination, insurance and ground school instruction. The government pays the school $30 per pupil to aid in cost of the ground school.

Student pilots will be given from 35 to 50 hours of flying time in an effort to qualify for private licenses.

It is believed that Mr. Mauldin will have charge of the ground school at the college and that he and his staff of two instructors also will be authorized to give the actual flying instructions.

THREE HURT IN ACCIDENT

Weslaco Men Suffer Crash Injuries

WESLACO—Three were injured, one seriously, when a Chrysler roadster and a Valley Baking Company truck collided at 10:40 a.m. Saturday at Miles 8 and 5, about a mile north of Weslaco.

Everette Sims, 33, was in most serious condition and had not recovered consciousness Saturday night. His cousin, Joe Sims, 31, was the least injured and was released from the Mercedes General Hospital after receiving emergency treatment but Jack West, 31, was still in the hospital with a fractured rib and possibly other injuries. All three are from Weslaco.

Truett Jordan of Mercedes, Hidalgo county traffic officer, was joined in the investigation of the wreck by State Highway Patrolmen Thurston Lovelace and W. M. Miller of Harlingen, and by Hidalgo County Patrolman Walter Lysinger of Edinburg.

The officers were told that the truck driven by Rex A. Bunge, 21, of Harlingen, was traveling south and that the roadster was going north. The accident occurred at an intersection as the driver of the Chrysler attempted a left hand turn to go west.

Jordan said that no charges had been filed pending recovery of the injured men to the extent that they might be questioned.

Many Students Take Red Cross Training

RAYMONDVILLE—Considerable interest has been shown by the student body in the First Aid class offered in the curriculum this year, and approximately 230 pupils have enrolled, according to Roy Duddleston, instructor.

Three classes are held weekly. Pupils in the high school will receive Red Cross First Aid certificates, and younger enrollees Junior Red Cross First Aid certificates, Duddleston said.

The instructor said he expected to start other classes in schools over the county as soon as possible. Classes are held under auspices of the Raymondville fire department.

Scientists Perfect New 'Ageless' Steel

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—(AP)—Steel that will last forever in all kinds of outdoors, a major goal of science, become a possibility Saturday with announcement by the chemical foundation of discovery of five new processes for making stainless steel impervious to all known natural corrosion.

These discoveries change not only the surface but the depth of the metal. One of them renders the steel as lustrous as precious metals so that it can be made into jewelry.

All discoveries were made at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by four men, Herbert Henry Uhlig, John C. Wulff, Albert L. Kaye and Robert S. Williams. They assigned their patents to the chemical foundation, a non-profit corporation organized by the late Francis Patrick Garvan to take over German World War patents.

Stainless steel has been vulnerable of two kinds of corrosion. In one, pit corrosion, rust forms in scattered spots and digs little isolated wells. It can honeycomb and ruin the metal. It occurs mainly in contact with salt water. The other, intercrystalline corrosion, has not caused much trouble.

The technology metallurgists discovered the source of the pits in microscopic points, cracks and other imperfections on the surface of apparently smooth steel. These rough places were particularly apparent after stainless was cold-worked.

They discovered two heating methods, a chemical bath and a rolling treatment, which would smooth this surface to almost mathematical perfection and stop pit corrosion.

They also discovered that alloying stainless steel with molybdenum or silver would stop corrosion. The "silver steel" discovery was announced several months ago.

Most of these methods can be used on steel at any stage of its fabrication, and in some cases on steel already in use.

They recommended a combination of two methods, heating and chemical bath, as the best treatment for both pit and intercrystalline corrosion. The chemical bath dissolves 44 hundred thousandths of an inch of steel surface and closes up all imperfections. The heating rearranges the steel crystals so that rust resistance is far more than skin deep.

By adding to the chemical bath a little titanium tetrachloride, the metallic material that makes smoke bombs and smoke screens, the surface of the steel becomes lustrous like gold, silver or platinum. It scintillates.

Cameron County Expenditures Are Running Ahead Of Budget

$204,117 SUM
SPENT DURING NINE MONTHS

Tentative Figures Of
Year $330,500

BROWNSVILLE — Cameron county's maintenance and operations expenditures during the first nine months of 1939 were $204,117, according to figures obtained Saturday from Cameron County Auditor L. A. Bauer.

Set up for maintenance and operations expenses in the county's 1939 budget was $330,500. At the three-quarter year mark the county's expenditures had consumed 78 per cent of the year's budget allotment.

The 1939 budget set up $118,000 for the officers' salary fund. During the first nine months of the year $94,971.27 was spent by the various offices, approximately 80 per cent of the year's allotment.

General Fund Tapped
During that period the offices collected fees totaling $33,631.32. The balance of office expenditures, $41,289.95, should be paid by the county out of the general fund, according to Mr. Bauer.

Only 24.5 cents of the county's tax rate can go to the general fund, however, and even with 100 per cent tax collection under the 1938 valuations the general fund would not receive enough money to take care of other items included under the general fund division, Mr. Bauer said.

Excluding the officers' salary fund, the county's maintenance and operations expenses totaled $162,827.05 at the end of the first nine months, or about 77 per cent of the year's allotment. A balance of $49,672.95 remains for the last quarter of the year.

Other Provisions
Under the general fund division of the budget, the only item that already has exceeded the year's allotment is clothing and medicine for public charity charges. With a year's allotment of $4,000, expenditures at the end of September had reached $5,422.51, exceeding the allotment by $1,422.51.

Outside the general fund division, the permanent improvement fund has been overdrawn $2,484.90. With $3,500 allotted, expenditures have reached $5,422. Mr. Bauer said repairs at the jail had caused the unexpected increase.

Fees Show Increase
Trial fees for justices of the peace and officers' fees in jail cases have exceeded by $453 the year's allotment of $2,500. The jury allotment has been overdrawn $260.32. The year's allotment was $6,000; already $6,260.32 has been spent.

Road and bridge maintenance expenditures in each precinct are under the year's allotment, but only because after the 1939 budget was adopted the commissioners' court amended it to increase that allotment by $30,000. The total expense for road and bridge maintenance during the first nine months was $63,831.69. Originally the budget allotted only $52,000, but by amendment the allotment was increased to $82,000.

Three Injured

Trucks Crash Near Matamoros

MATAMOROS — Three persons who were injured, two severely, in a collision between trucks west of here Friday night are recovering.

Armando Guadarrama, 25, federal department of agriculture employee who was driving one of the trucks, is believed to have suffered internal injuries, and his wife, Agustina, 22, suffered a deep gash under the chin. Maria Monserratos Garcia, 12, resident of La Jarrita Agrarian colony and third occupant of the Guadarrama truck, sustained minor cuts and bruises.

Cristobal Espino de China, N. L., was the driver of the second truck, according to Police Lieutenant Manuel R. Curiel, investigating officer. He was uninjured and his large truck damaged only slightly.

The department of agriculture light truck driven by Guadarrama was practically demolished, Lieut. Curiel reported.

The Guadarrama family moved here recently from Toluca, Mexico.

Overhead Irrigation Termed Successful

RAYMONDVILLE — Success was seen for the overhead type of irrigation installed the past week on a 40-acre tract at Evergreen farms, operated under direction of W. A. Harding.

Smaller pipes leading from a main through the acreage and moved periodically after water has run for a length of time. The system is similar to that used in past seasons at Adams Gardens development near Harlingen, and other vegetable tracts.

Big Guns And What They Do

Guns at the top are Navy 16-inch (left) and 14-inch, the one on the right on a disappearing carriage. The 16-inch can fire a 2,100-pound shell about 30 miles. The 14 hurls a 1,500-pound shell about 12 miles. At the bottom is shown what a 16-inch shell did to a 14-inch battleship armorplate on display at the Aberdeen proving ground in Maryland.

Bulletins On Market News Start Monday

WESLACO — The market news service will begin issuing bulletins from its Weslaco office Monday on citrus fruits and at a later date, probably November 1, on vegetables, according to R. E. Winfrey who will be in charge.

Those on the mailing list last season will receive bulletins until October 23 and unless they indicate that they wish the service to be continued their names will be dropped. Application blanks were mailed out this week.

Winfrey, who for years was connected with the crop market news service in connection with the Florida celery deal, takes the place of W. D. Goode who has been retired because of illness and is in the veterans hospital at Legion, Texas. Goode has been with the federal market news service almost since its inception and has been in charge of the office in the Valley for more than ten years.

The service was made possible for the Valley originally through cash subscriptions from the shippers themselves with W. E. McDavitt of Brownsville, as one of the leaders of the move to get the service.

The federal government furnished most of the other funds with some cooperation from the state.

Brownsville Fruit Tests Being Made

BROWNSVILLE — Out of 89 official tests of grapefruit in this area during the past week, 27 met state maturity requirements. E. C. Spicer, department of agriculture representative in charge of the testing station here, said Saturday.

More tests are asked on the seedless varieties of grapefruit, Spicer said, and a little greater percentage of Foster Pinks are passing than of Marsh Seedless.

During the past week seven official tests were made on oranges, with five tests meeting requirements.

Fruit is tested both for the amount of juice and for the sugar content.

FRANK ING TO GIVE HARLINGEN CONCERT

Star To Study In New York

FRANK ING

HARLINGEN — When opportunity knocks at the door it's no time to sit back and yell—"come in." That's the time for a fellow to open the door with zeal and bow the visitor in with his finest grace.

That's what Frank Ing, Raymondville baritone, is trying to do. Ing, who has been encouraged by the assistant conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, to continue his voice study in New York, is planning a concert in Harlingen's auditorium the night of October 30. He will sing a varied program of classical and modern songs, including those old favorites which invariably strike a responsive chord in any American audience.

The concert receipts will be used to further Ing's study under Frederick Vajda, assistant conductor of the Metropolitan, who recently said of Ing:

"Besides having a voice of such unusual quality, Mr. Ing is endowed with other qualifications, namely, his youthful years, his handsome appearance, his operatic figure, his poise and musicianship, which in my opinion destines him for a really great future on the operatic stage."

Friends in many parts of the Valley are assisting Ing in preparing his program and lending their efforts to make the concert an outstanding success.

Gallogly Will Battle Move For Extradition

HEARING SET FOR FUGITIVE BY O'DANIEL

Habeas Corpus Writ Filed In Dallas

DALLAS — (P)—Determined to block any surprise move on the part of Georgia to gain custody of Richard Gray Gallogly, 30, escaped Georgia life-terminer, his attorneys Saturday filed a writ of habeas corpus which insures him a hearing Wednesday in event Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel grants extradition Monday in Austin.

Sheriff Smoot Schmid must show cause why Gallogly is being restrained of his liberty, in violation of the United States and Texas constitutions, a formal pleading.

The writ was filed by Harold Young, Dallas attorney, and State Senator Jesse Martin of Fort Worth, the fugitive's attorneys by his own selection. No bond was asked or set.

Will Leave Sunday
Sheriff Schmid will leave Sunday with Gallogly for Austin, where the slim, pale scion of a wealthy Georgia family will plead for Texas justice before Governor O'Daniel.

Gallogly, convicted in Georgia in 1928 for conspiracy to murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, his pretty blonde 28-year-old wife, Vera, who faces two indictments in Atlanta, Ga., and his socially prominent mother, Mrs. Worth E. Yankey, will testify at the extradition hearing, Young said.

The former Oglethorpe University student is expected to plead that his health is such that his return to prison will cause his death in a short time, and that he was promised a three-year sentence in an alleged trade through which he obtained a commutation of the death sentence of the actual trigger man in two killings.

Officials See Man
For the first time since their arrival in Texas last Wednesday, Gallogly met Saturday the four Georgia officials who came to Texas for him.

Attorney General Ellis Arnall, Assistant Fulton County (Ga.) Solicitor General J. Walter LeCraw, Special Investigator Hugh L. Perryman and State Trooper W. P. Grinstead viewed Gallogly in the Dallas county jail.

"Hello," he said.
Arnall nodded in satisfaction, and aside to an officer said, "That's him."
"My attorneys told me not to talk," Gallogly then said.
He was led back to his cell.

$12,107 Paid

Cameron Tax Data Set Out

BROWNSVILLE — Current tax collections since October 1 total $12,107.39, it was announced Saturday at the office of Cameron County Tax Assessor-Collector Ralph T. Agar.

The figure represents collections less the three per cent discount allowed for full payment during this month. Taxes paid include the state and county taxes and those for all political subdivisions consolidated with the county tax assessor-collector's office.

Thirty-one poll tax receipts have been issued since October 1, it was announced, and five poll tax exemption receipts.

HE FACES EXTRADITION FIGHT

Mrs. Vera Gallogly (left), 28, met her husband, Richard Gallogly (right), 30, Georgia fugitive, when she gave up to Dallas police. Georgia officials began a legal fight to return Gallogly to Georgia to complete a sentence on a slaying charge.

High Rank Renewed For Mercy Hospital

BROWNSVILLE — The Mercy hospital of Brownsville is on the list of 2,720 hospitals in the U. S. and Canada approved by the American College of Surgeons, it will be announced in Philadelphia Monday at the 22nd annual hospital standardization conference.

After several years of hard work on the part of the hospital and its staff of physicians, the hospital was granted the coveted rating last year, and it has been approved again this year.

Other hospitals in this area meeting the college's strict requirements are the Fred Roberts Memorial hospital and the Spohn hospital, both at Corpus Christi. The Mercy Hospital at Laredo also has been given tentative approval by the college.

Minimum standards for meeting the college's requirements include:
1—Modern physical plant, assuring the patient safety, comfort and efficient care.

2—Clearly defined organization, duties, responsibilities and relations.

3—Carefully selected governing board with complete and final authority in the management of the institution.

4—Competent, well trained superintendent responsible to the governing board for carrying out all the policies of the hospital.

5—Adequate and efficient personnel, properly organized and competently supervised.

6—Organized medical staff of ethical, competent physicians and surgeons.

7—Adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities under competent medical supervision.

8—Accurate and complete medical records, readily accessible for research and follow-up.

9—Regular group conferences of the administrative staff and of the medical staff for reviewing activities and results so as to maintain a high plane of scientific efficiency.

COLLEGE PLAY GROUP OFFERS FAMED DRAMA

Indian Masterpiece To Be Presented

EDINBURG — The famous Italian comedy, "Death Takes a Holiday," will be presented by the Campus Players of Edinburg Junior college in the college auditorium Thursday night, at 8:45 o'clock. This three-act play by the eminent contemporary dramatist, Alberto Casella, reflects the influence of the Italian masters, Dante and Virgil. It concerns a three-day interlude in which Death assumes human form and experiences the emotions of a lifetime as he attempts to discover why men fear him.

Cast Is Selected
Casella's play has been adapted for the American stage by Walter Ferris and has been enthusiastically received both on stage and screen. Phillips Merivale played the title role in the Broadway production, and Frederic March appeared as Death in the screen version.

Heading the cast of the Edinburg college production is Virgil Smith of McAllen, who is known to Valley audiences through his work with the Little Theatre of the Valley in "Brother Rat" and "Petrified Forest," and who won the "best actor" award at the state junior college play contest in 1938. Other members of the cast, who have also appeared in productions of the Valley Little Theatre, are E. P. Lillard of the Edinburg college faculty, Gwendolyn Crawford of McAllen, Glance Kilgore of Mission and Marjorie Hamilton of Edinburg.

Mr. Lillard appears as Duke Lambert de Catalica, whom Death chooses as his three-day host; Miss Crawford is the fascinating Madam Alda; Miss Hamilton has the exacting role of the mother whose daughter falls in love with Death, and Glance Kilgore is Duke Lambert's servant.

Others Take Roles
Other members of the cast are Sally Sammons of Edinburg, who plays the mysterious Grazia, who, alone, is unafraid of Death; Harvey Henderson of McAllen as the old Baron Cesarea, who becomes gaily young again during Death's holiday; Jean Cragon of Edinburg, Stephanie, the Duke's hospitable wife; Richard Lewis of Pharr, the Duke's son and Grazia's fiancé; Chesna Mae Dillinger of Edinburg, the healthy Rhonda Fenton; Lester

LARGE GROUP ATTENDS HOMEMAKERS MEETING

MERCEDES—Approximately 260 high school girls of the Valley, members of Future Homemaker Chapters and their sponsors, were guests of the Mercedes Future Homemaker Chapter Saturday at an all-day meeting held in the junior high school auditorium. The welcome was given by Dan Atteberry of Mercedes.

Harriet Hardin of Brownsville, president of the Valley Chapter, called the meeting to order, after which Mildred Nebenzahl of Mercedes, secretary, led in the singing of "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" and "America," by the group.

Betty Comper of Weslaco, vice president and program chairman, introduced the speaker for the day, Miss Margaret Oliver of La Feria, who gave her impressions of the British Isles, having taken a group of girls across the water at one time. Miss Oliver congratulated the large number of girls present who showed such enthusiasm in home economics. Among the interesting things she described as having seen in the trip across the water were Blarney Castle in Cork, Ireland, and the witnessing of the kissing of the Blarney Stone; a hostelry in Chester, England, used since long before Columbus discovered America, and interesting cities in Scotland. She interestingly described the cathedrals and the boys' choirs in Wales, where, she said, they stayed in the home of an elderly man, 85 years of age, who had sung in the choir steadily since he was seven years old.

Betty Comper reported on the recent area meeting of the Future Homemakers held in New Braunfels. Rosie Utzler of Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, sang two songs. Coren Bourg of Harlingen, gave a vocal number, accompanied by June Veto. Coren also gave a clever reading. Hazel Dufalt of Brownsville, as Eric Rhoda's brother; Janice Craig of Lyford, Stephanie's servant; and David Davila, Edinburg, Major Whitred of the Foreign Legion.

Mrs. Ruth M. Owing of the college dramatic department and sponsor of the Campus Players, is director of the play.

Babson Warns We Must Avoid Fatal Mistakes Made By China

JAPAN, U.S. FALLING HEIR TO COMMERCE

Busy Era For Ships, Sailors Seen

By ROGER W. BABSON
SAN FRANCISCO—The first result of the war to be noticed on the Pacific coast is the big increase in activity along the commerce lanes. The European War has hog-tied the leading trading nations of the world, Japan and the United States are falling heir to most of Germany's world commerce. Moreover, with England and France hardly able to hold their present trade, the United States and Japan will get the lion's share of the immense increase in world commerce which any extended European War inevitably means. America's Merchant Marine, now second largest in the world, will enjoy its busiest days since 1920.

The richest commercial prize that Germany's lack of sea-power has forced her to give up is her trade with Latin America. As I see it, the only obstacle to a boom in our trade with South American nations is the lack of buying power of these countries. Our difficulty is to find additional products which we can take from South America in exchange for our manufactured goods. Wool, hides, nitrates, and coffee can be imported, of course. But Latin America's principal surpluses are copper, oil, and farm products. These we do not need. The riddle will be partially solved by our selling manufactured goods to South America, carrying her food products to Europe and bringing back such things as glassware, olive oil, linen and china.

Europe to Pay Cash
Europe must increase her use of South American food. She will have to pay for it in cash rather than by the barter method of the past few years. This additional cash should help to solve South America's problem of finding the necessary buying power to purchase American goods. Moreover, the United States will probably contribute substantially by extending additional credits to South America through our Export-Import Bank. We have already granted substantial credits to Brazil and other Latin American countries.

Biggest gain in our world commerce will be in our manufactured goods. These were the type of goods that Germany was selling in South America and in other parts of the world. Japan and the United States will grab most of Germany's and some of France's and Britain's former trade in such products as cutlery, bicycles, railroad equipment, chemicals, machinery, high-grade textiles, and the like. We should have the upper hand over Japan, particularly in the case of the most highly-specialized manufactures because Japan's products are cheap in quality and narrow in range of selection. With the present line-up of belligerents, I cannot, however, see any immediate big increase in our exports of farm products—not even cotton.

Ships at Capacity
Our seaports—particularly along the Gulf—will see great activity. Shippers, already busy in turning out war-ships, will be pushed to capacity in the building of new cargo boats. Furthermore, if the Neutrality Act is amended, much of the world trade going to neutral nations will be carried in American boats. The German and British navies will know that American ships will not be carrying even a loaf of bread to the belligerent nations. Shippers will like this additional safety of our vessels and will find the resulting low war risk insurance on American ships attractive. Hence, busy days are ahead for the American Merchant Marine. I doubt, however, if this active era for our shipping will continue after the war is over. As I arrive home from my trip to the Orient, I am convinced of one thing: Japan and China can together create the most formidable industrial machine in the world. They can make and export products at unbelievably low prices. They can sweep the goods of every other nation, with the possible exception of Russia, off the seas. The only way other nations can compete with Japan and China is by entirely changing their present economic set-up.

Self-Sufficiency A Snare
I am very bullish on the United States for the next few years, but sooner or later we are going into a real depression. As I reflect on living habits and standards in my home town of Wellesley, they seem so artificial and wasteful that I wonder how long they can continue. We are all living in a fool's paradise with no regard for what the future has in store for our children. By our policy of isolation and our walls of tariff, are we not following the Chinese? The reason China is so weak today is because her people felt sufficient unto themselves and refused to compete with the rest of the world in scientific methods and progressive learning. We are as foolish in reducing hours and fixing prices as were the Chinese in their belief that because they were the greatest oldest, and richest nation they had nothing to fear. I wonder if some day there may be a parallel in our history. We expect to save ourselves by a great tariff wall just as the Chinese tried to save themselves by a great stone wall.

Japan Our Industrial "Enemy"
The Japanese have kept their heads and have not tried such silly notions. As a result, I think that they can, with the help of China control the manufactures of the world. The United States can keep out foreign goods with a tariff wall; but our wall can not prevent the Japanese from flooding our customers in South and Central

STATE FAIR CROWDS GET MONEY'S WORTH AT LOWER VALLEY EXHIBIT

McALLEN—Three Valley beauties, three Valley artists, 34 cases of Valley grapefruit juice, three mechanical devices exhibiting Valley citrus fruits, and five speeches by the booth manager, that summarize publicity work or appearance for the Lower Rio Grande Valley at the Dallas state fair during the past week.

In addition to this advertising there was the regular Valley exhibit arranged by the Valley Chamber of Commerce Secretaries association.

Miss Ella Beth Melton of Pharr, who was Miss Citriana at the 1939 Texas Citrus Fiesta at Mission; Miss Araceli Sanchez, of Rio Grande

City, queen of the Starr County Fair and Rodeo, and Miss Josephine Taylor, of Brownsville, Charro Days queen, appeared at the Valley booth and when a crowd was attracted, Mrs. Paul T. Vickers, booth manager, made a talk on the Valley, as she later did when Mrs. Faye Jones, Stanley Addington and Laura Schmuck gave programs.

The South Texas Canners association, through Secretary J. A. Burch, sent 34 cases of Valley juice to the exhibit and this has been used by Mrs. Vickers in six demonstrations at large meetings in Dallas and other towns. One case was sent by a highway group from El Paso to Washington, D. C., where it was served at a banquet. The canners association was warmly thanked by Valley secretaries, as were growers and packers, although two chambers of commerce reported they actually had to buy at the rate of $2 per box, four boxes of grapefruit from a packing association to help the association advertise its own products.

In addition to a whistling train on the exhibit platform carrying citrus fruits, an Allis-Chalmers baby tractor was loaned to the Valley and it and a moving treasure chest all handling fruit attract wide attention. C. E. Kerns is assisting with mechanical details.

On one program arranged on the fairgrounds by Mrs. Vickers, grapefruit juice prizes were awarded to the eldest man, 91, who told the crowd he attributed his long life to drinking grapefruit juice; to an Illinois couple for traveling the longest distance to the fair, and to the youngest couple with the biggest brood of children. The booth manager made a talk on the values of Valley citrus and on the advantages of traveling through the Valley to reach Mexico.

Besides entertainment programs and grapefruit juice demonstrations given last week by Mrs. Vickers at two of Dallas' largest Methodist and Christian churches, she spoke at a highway group breakfast, made a speech on citrus and Mexico before an audience of 71 women at Arlington, and before an audience of 200 women of farm club groups at Richardson, where she spoke last year.

Faye Jones gave several concerts while in Dallas, one of which was for the Texas Power and Light Company, and several at the Valley booth, at which time Mrs. Vickers, wearing a China Poblano costume, sang songs in Spanish and made a talk urging all Texans to route themselves through the Valley while en route to Mexico. Stanley Addington of Raymondville led the large group that gathered at the booth in singing, "Our Valley Home."

Bananas shipped by Valley people helping with the exhibit attracted wide attention, it was reported, and a bunch of Hopi Indians at the fair made quick work of a bunch of ripe fruit given them.

Hallowe'en Party

Mission Schools To Sponsor Event

MISSION—Tentative plans were announced this week by Hugh C. Proctor, Mission school superintendent, for an all-school Hallowe'en party to be held at the high school athletic field October 31. Initial plans of the Mission chamber of commerce to stage a similar celebration downtown in Mission the same night were relinquished by the chamber when plans for the school fete were revealed, Proctor said.

Hallowe'en customs will be stressed in gags, stunts, entertainment and food booths to be arranged on the athletic field. Proceeds of sales made will be placed in a fund to be used by the music and auditorium arts department of the school to purchase costumes, stage props, and other needs of the activity. Each department in the high school and each extra-curricular activity will sponsor one even at the Hallowe'en party. Members of the faculty in charge of the party announced that a policy of barring all games of chance had been agreed to and would be observed.

In Harlingen—

To fulfill its responsibility as the shopping center for a large and prosperous area, a city must have much more than numbers of well-stocked, dependable stores.

To properly and fully meet its requirements, such a shopping center must have many other facilities and services for the convenience and the necessities of the people it serves.

There must be an abundance of expert professional talent; dentists, physicians, surgeons, general practitioners and specialists of all kinds. All these professional men must have the equipment they need at their disposal.

There must be legal and financial facilities to meet the demands of the people.

There must be artisans in all crafts to serve the citizenry of a progressive and fertile agricultural section.

Repair service for automobiles and agricultural machinery must be available, as must all manner of parts, accessories and fuel.

A shopping center in a modern community cannot live up to its name unless it meets all these requirements and more.

Harlingen meets these requirements and more. It does this because its business men long ago realized their obligation to their customers and have built their extensive patronage on their reputation for service.

When your local merchant does not have what you need, you will find it in Harlingen.

Witt Turns In Fine Game For Scrappy Bears

Porkers Score In Second Quarter

By DAVE CHEAVENS
WACO.—(AP)—Baylor's giant killers did it again Saturday, playing old-fashioned football to defeat Arkansas' favored aerialists, 19 to 7.

Mixing passes and running plays and showing heads up football, all the way, the underdog Bruins—playing their favorite role—scored in the second period on a line buck by Jack Wilson, sophomore sensation; in the third when end Jack Lummus recovered an Arkansas fumble over the goal line, and again in the last period on a 42-yard dash by Jimmy Witt.

Arkansas scored in the second on what looked more like a basketball play than a football maneuver. Kay Eakin heaved a long pass toward the Baylor goal, which was baited about by several Arkansas players before end Howard Hickey finally grabbed it and fell over the line.

Baylor, entering the game virtually untested against rough competition, showed fine early season form and apparently took the Arkansas team by surprise all the way down the field on a drive to the 12. Arkansas came back and scored the game's first touchdown after Eakin's passes began to click as they are supposed to.

Witt, a Baylor junior, passed and ran for many a long gain and easily was the game's outstanding performer. He was pressed by Coach Morley Jennings' promising sophomore from Paris, Jack Wilson, a 200 pounder, who turned in several long gains. Kay Eakin for Arkansas was outstanding, but the work of the visiting ends was far from standard.

Baylor's Wilson ran standing up through the Arkansas team for the Bruins' second score. A long pass. Wilson to Graham, had put Baylor on the Arkansas 36. Witt battled through the right side of Arkansas' line to the 25 after several shorter gains. Then Wilson plunged to the 17. Witt made it first down on the Arkansas 11, reversed to the 6 on the next play and Wilson scored the touchdown. Center Bob Nelson's place kick was good, but he failed on the next two.

Baylor's second touchdown was a nightmare for Arkansas. Eakin, faking a kick back of his goal line, had handed the ball to Hamburg, who scrambled for the ball, and Lummus finally pounced on it.

Baylor's final score came after the Bruins had fought off an Arkansas threat that had the ball on the Bear 20. An end-around play netted five, then another lost five, and Witt batted down an Arkansas pass on the Baylor goal line. Wilson got 12 yards around end, three more through right guard, then Witt heaved 12 yards to Wilson who streaked to the Arkansas 42. Witt then took a reverse from Wilson and ran easily through the Arkansas team for the score, the game's last.

The veteran Baylor line smothered Arkansas' power plays, and gave her passers an uneasy afternoon. Baylor tackled 14 first downs to Arkansas' five; Baylor gained 103 through the air and Arkansas 123.

The starting lineup:

Baylor	Pos.	Arkansas
Nelson	Center	Caro
Taylor	Right Guard	Simington
Edwards	Right Tackle	Mays
Wimpee	Right End	Adams
Merika	Quarterback	Lyons
Witt	Right Half	Hamburg
Grumbles	Fullback	Cole

Score by periods:

Baylor	Arkansas

Baylor scoring: Touchdown—Witt (sub for Adams). Extra point—Simington (placement).

Substitutions: Baylor—Ends, Lucas, Lummus; Tackles, Anderson, Robinson; guards, Mickler, Haley, Willis; backs, Parks, Graham, Hider, Arkansas—Ends, Pitts, Britt, Hickey; tackles, Carter, Coates, Singer; guards, park; center, Oilly; backs, Neal, Atwood, Campbell.

Referee: Farris (Oklahoma City University); Umpire, E. J. Jones (Tulsa); head linesman, Dyer (Rice); field judge, Swartz, (Rice).

How Come, Claude?

Claude Dailey and his Mission Eagles are well on their way to hang up some sort of a Valley football record.

In the last two games the Eagles have played, and both of them were conference affairs, the score has been 0 to 0. But the Eagles were credited with two wins on penetrations.

All of which makes us wonder if Claude has decided that he wants his offense and defense on an equal basis. It would seem he is using a system that calls for holding the opposition as well as yourself.

We are not so much surprised at what Claude is doing for we remember what happened when he discovered that the only way he could win a district title was not by scoring but by hanging up a job of first downs and penalties. And he did just that. Then he had the tough luck of the bi-district game the same way.

A Warning

The State Game Department has issued a warning to hunters that erroneous information concerning the bag limits on ducks and geese has been printed on the backs of the State hunting licenses. Between November 15 and December 28, the season on ducks and geese in Texas, sportsmen will be allowed 10 ducks in one day or 20 in possession. They will also be allowed 4 geese a day or 8 in possession. However, canvasbacks, red-heads, buff-breasts and ruddy ducks have special limits. Only 3 of any one of these kinds or an aggregate of 3 of them may be taken in one day and 6 is the possession limit.

No Sympathy

As a general rule you will find Valley grid fans pulling hard for Southwest Conference teams to win over foreign foes.

This did not hold true when the Texas Christian Horned Frogs sagged down on the goal line and then went on to let Temple nose them out Saturday 13 to 11.

After that failure on the part of the Christians, most fans just sat back and were content to see the Owls win, expressing the opinions that the Horned Frogs did not deserve a victory.

Their Old Tricks

Those Baylor Bears are up to their old tricks again.

Knocking off the favorites to win the conference crown is the Bears' idea of a big Saturday afternoon. And they have these good times quite often.

The latest victim of the Bears were the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Tough Luck

Those Southern Methodist Mustangs certainly deserved at least a tie with Notre Dame Saturday.

One of these days the Ponies are going to take a game from the Irish by one point instead of losing by that margin.

MINNESOTA 12; PURDUE 13

MINNEAPOLIS.—(AP)—Minnesota's Big Ten champions pretty well bottled up Purdue's famed three "B"s for 55 minutes and 34 seconds here Saturday but one of them balked at that point.

Mike Eyclene, with four minutes and 25 seconds of play remaining, popped through tackle, cut slightly to his left and ran 45 yards for a touchdown which with Fred Montague's pay off placement, gave the Boilermakers a 13 to 12 tie.

The Golden Gophers had pulled away to a seven point lead in the first two minutes of the second half on a 52-yard touchdown run by George Franck on almost the identical play used later by the rallying Black and Gold.

COLUMBIA 6; ARMY 6

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Lightning struck twice in the wooden confines of Baker Field Saturday and left a chilled crowd of 27,000 fans stunned by a 6 to 6 tie between Army and Columbia.

Taking the opening kick-off the audacious Lions appeared a touchdown in some 4-1-2 minutes.

Then the storm blew over and there was scarcely a thunderclap until Army in a scintillating pass covering 47 yards from Johnny Hatch to Fred Yeager tied the score just three minutes before the game ended.

Sooners Trim Steers 24-12 On Dallas Sod

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS.—(AP)—The clock struck midnight for Texas' Cinderella kids Saturday, Oklahoma opportunists tumbling over them, 24-12, with air and ground spears that stunned 28,000.

The rangy Sooners who rocked Northwestern in last week's most jolting upset, had everything again Saturday but an antidote for Cowboy Jack Crain, Texas' towhead sophomore who passed them like so many wooden Indians on two incredible runs of 68 and 71 yards for fourth-period touchdowns.

Temporarily stunned after seeing one little fellow melt their 17-0 lead on two sudden thrusts, the Oklahoma Sooners rumbled back with the power that makes them one of the nation's standouts and quieted Texas with a 63-yard touchdown march that iced the game with three minutes to play.

Oklahoma won its ball game—handily—but Crain, a 165-pound scouter from the plains of West Texas, churned his bow legs for the thrills of the day. First he grabbed the ball from Fullback R. B. Patrick on a reverse and swept his right end, fighting Sooners yard for yard some 25 passes before he finally broke in the clear and turned on the steam to run away from the pursuers who finally gave up.

His tongue still hung on his chest, when, four minutes later, he took up from almost exactly the same spot, breaking wide over tackle and gunning 71 yards on a midfield dash. Both times he tried—and missed—the conversion points.

Take away Crain's two runs and Texas' threats for the day add to none. Oklahoma had pounced on everything that looked like a break—manufacturing some themselves—to stifle the sophomore Texans until that brief first-minute outburst.

On rushing plays the Oklahoma Sooners gained 186 yards to Texas' 195, including Crain's 139 yards on two runs, while Sooners passes, with Berry Clark, L. G. Friedricks and Orr Matthews, pitching, picked up 173 yards to Texas' meager 25. First downs stood 13 to 3.

Oklahoma blossomed out with a fine passing game, completing 11 of 17 and scoring daylight on the Texans with a few others. Two more Oklahoma touchdowns could have resulted from passes, one being nullified by an offside penalty while another was voided when Alton Coppage dropped one he speared on the goal line.

The starting lineup:

Oklahoma	Pos.	Texas

MERCEDES.—First tournament of the new season for the Valley Women's Golf Association will be played over the Mercedes golf course Monday afternoon beginning at one o'clock. Entrants plan to meet at the club house at twelve to enjoy a picnic lunch with each player bringing her own lunch.

Special interest in golf among the Valley women has been aroused with the bringing of the Texas Women's Public Links golf association annual tournament here in the spring and a full entry list is expected for the tourney Monday. All women players are eligible to take part in the event whether or not they are members of the association. Prizes will be awarded entrants and a part of the entry fee will be applied toward the expense fund for the Texas tournament, according to Mrs. W. A. Loveless, president of both organizations.

The Valley Women's association was organized last year and enjoyed a successful season. Originated with the idea of increasing interest in golf for Valley women players and affording opportunity for acquaintance among Valley sportswomen, the association held tournaments bi-monthly during the season, using each Valley golf course in turn.

With the promising start of this season, officials estimate a more successful season this year than last, with a climax of the season's program the Texas Women's annual tournament on the Harlingen course in the spring.

Ole Miss Rebels Beat Centenary

SHREVEPORT, La.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi's powerful Rebels overwhelmed the Gentlemen of Centenary College here Saturday night, 34-0, with a brilliant display of line play and timely passing. A crowd of 7,500 saw the game.

From the time in the first quarter when Tillman covered a Centenary fumble on his opponent's 12-yard line and Smith went over for a touchdown to the closing minutes of the game, Ole Miss held the upper hand.

The Rebels went on to score twice in the second quarter, and twice more in the third, being held scoreless only in the fourth when substitutes sprinkled the lineup. Ole Miss rolled up 16 first downs to three for Centenary and gained 276 yards from scrimmage to 24 for Centenary.

Dodson, 185-pound Ole Miss right half, sprinted 44 yards over left tackle for the Rebels' second touchdown, and his pass to Ward on the Centenary five set up the third score. Murphy carried it over on the first plunge.

In the third quarter, Tillman, shifty Rebel halfback, went over from the five-yard line on a spinner. Then Hovious' pass to Gladning, tall end, who took the short flip on the fifth 10-yard line, clicked for the Rebels' touchdown.

Dodson booted two points after touchdown and Smith and Hovious one each.

JAVELINAS WIN

KINGSVILLE, Tex.—(AP)—The Texas A. and M. Javelinas defeated the Sam Houston Bearkats, 7 to 0, in a grid contest here Saturday night.

The Javelinas scored in the first half, Mattling plunging over from the three-yard line after he and Stoinke had shouldered most of the burden of a 55-yard march. Dugger converted the extra point.

The Bearkats' only threat came in the second period. After reaching the 15, they tried for a field goal but missed.

COUGARS U. HUSKIES 0

PULLMAN, Wash.—(AP)—Scoring on an opening period thrust and then hanging on grimly, the Washington State College Cougars defeated their traditional foe, the University of Washington Huskies, 6 to 0, before a crowd of 20,000 here Saturday.

Irish Nose Out SMU Mustangs In Wild Battle

By EARL HILLIGAN

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(AP)—The Mustangs of Southern Methodist University took Notre Dame for a wild ride Saturday, but at the finish the Irish held the whip hand, 20-19.

Notre Dame "backed into" the hard won victory, SMU missing a tie in the final minute of play. Jack Sanders big lineman, failed to make the extra point on a touchdown scored after a blocked Notre Dame punt had given the invaders possession on the Irish two-yard line. Seconds later Notre Dame had its third straight victory of the season in the books and Southern Methodist its first defeat.

The finish of the furiously fought battle matched its start, both teams scoring touchdowns in the first seven minutes of play. Each added another touchdown and missed the try for point in the second period to enter the last half deadlocked at 13-13. Then, after a comparatively quiet third quarter, Notre Dame smashed through for a touchdown and an extra point and Southern Methodist made its gallant but futile bid to escape defeat as the clock ticked away the Mustang hopes.

A Notre Dame fumble gave SMU possession on the Irish 15. Preston Johnson went over for a touchdown. Sanders made the conversion.

Harry Stevens passed 47 yards to Bill Kerr, carrying Notre Dame to the Southern Methodist 22. Stevens then passed to Lou Zontini, who took the ball in the end-zone for a touchdown. Zontini picked up the extra point and the score was tied.

In the second period the Mustangs passed and smashed deep into Notre Dame territory, Ray Malloff leading a charge to the Irish four. Then Bob Belville lateraled to Malloff, who raced around right end for a touchdown. Belville's kick was wide.

Notre Dame tied the score late in the period, driving from its own 33 over the Mustang goal line. Milt Piepul went over from the two-foot line. John Kelleher failed to make the conversion. Piepul was the hero of Notre Dame's fourth period scoring, climaxing a 67 yard drive by cracking through for 10 yards and a touchdown. Kelleher this time made the try for point, which ultimately proved the margin of victory. With a minute to go, Stevens' reserve, blocked by Ray Pope, kept the Irish two. SMU recovered on the Irish two. On the first play Johnston scored thru left tackle. Then Sanders' try for the extra point and a tie sailed inches wide of the uprights and the battle was over.

Temple's Owls Rally To Down Frogs 13 To 11

By BILL BONI
PHILADELPHIA.—(AP)—A slipshod, outclassed Temple football team that turned into an aggressive alert gang of ball hawks between halves first made good on a break, then staged an unbroken 41-yard scoring march, and finally threw up a cast-iron goal line defense to nose out Texas Christian Saturday 13-11.

Before a crowd of 20,000 that cheered the Owls to their first victory of the season, Temple compressed all of its scoring into the third quarter. In the closing minutes of the final period, the Owls still had enough stamina left to take the ball on downs after a pass interference penalty had given T. C. U. a first down on the Temple 1-yard line.

For the first half, with Rusty Cowart pitching passes in a style that would have done credit to his TCU predecessors, Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien, the Texans definitely had Temple on the run. Cowart hung footballs in the air and his mates hauled them down for all sorts of yardage.

One series of aerials put the Horned Frogs in position for Floyd Thompson, a substitute back, to kick a field goal from the 11-yard line on the first play of the second quarter. In the last minute, another series of air maneuvers wound up with Cowart passing to halfback Earle Clark for 34 yards and a touchdown.

Since TCU failed to make good the extra-point kick, that left the Texans leading, 9-0, at the half. But something happened to the Owls between the halves. They were hitting harder and tackling cleaner. Cowart, safety man for TCU, let a Temple punt roll figuring it would go into his end zone. Instead it stopped on the 1-yard line, where Norm Rushton, Temple end, fell on. Connie Sparks, TCU fullback, had to kick out of his end zone, and the ball went to Temple on it 26.

Seven plays later fullback Jonah Bowles bucked over the middle from less than a yard out. As on the TCU touchdown, the pass from center on the extra-point play was fumbled.

Temple launched another drive, this one from the Texans' 41-yard line, and this time threw in a 20-yard gain on a forward lateral. Andy Tomastich, sub halfback, finally went over standing up from the four-yard line, skirting the TCU right end after failing to find an opening at tackle.

Temple, playing safe, later took a safety.

Texas Aggie Powerhouse Flattens Villanova 33-7

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

TYLER, Tex.—(AP)—Bald Homer Norton, the grid iron master of Aggie land, turned loose a Texas hurricane here Saturday that flattened the forces of Villanova College like pancakes, burying the hitherto unbeaten Wild Cats under a 33-7 score.

Norton's greatest Texas A. and M. team blew with tempestuous fury to pile up all its points in the first half, then with second and third stringers doing most of the work coasted the remainder of the way.

A crowd of 14,000 witnessed the game, played as a climaxing feature of the annual Rose Festival. The tilt was a rough-and-tumble affair with several of the opposing players threatening to take pokes at each other.

The Aggies scored early in the first quarter with Big John Kimbrough who played less than a third of the game, smashing over from the two-yard line. Bill Dawson missed the goal.

The Texans had another touchdown within two minutes, Marion Pugh pitching a 31-yard pass to Derace Moser who ran 18 yards untouched for the counter. Marshall Bobnett missed the goal.

A sensational punt returned by Moser carried to the Villanova 26 set the stage for the next Aggie score. Pugh passed to Herbert Smith for 10 yards, Moser circled end for 7 and Kimbrough started over tackle then cut out around end for the touchdown. Bobnett kicked the goal.

The next two A. and M. touchdowns were made in rapid fire order. After a 15 yard penalty had nullified a 35-yard touchdown pass from Marland Jeffrey to James Thomson, Bill Conaster took a punt on the A. and M. 30 and raced through the Villanova team for the counter. Bill Audish kicked the goal.

A fumble led to the final Aggie touchdown. Leon Rahn recovered a fumble on the Villanova 10-yard line, Marshall Spivey made two, Audish three, then Spivey cracked the line for the counter. Audish kicked the goal.

The Wildcats came back fighting to get their touchdown early in the fourth period. Joe Behot flipped a pass to Bill Romanowski who lat-ally to Paul Stenn and the latter ran 13 yards for the score. Behot kicked the goal.

Eastern Grid Teams Regain Place In Football Sun

Intersectional Games Full Of Thrilling Plays

Few Upsets Listed In Results

By HERR BARKER

NEW YORK—(P)—The East regained its place in the football sun Sunday in another spectacular series of intersectional games marked otherwise by the near defeat of Notre Dame's Ramblers and a tremendous scoring performance by the Texas Aggies.

While Notre Dame just made the grade against Southern Methodist, 20-16, and Texas A. and M. was putting Villanova's Wildcats to rout, 33-7, Pitt Temple, Harvard, Holy Cross and Catholic scored for the East.

Pitt no longer depending upon sheer power, came from behind twice to win Duke, 14-13 although individual honors for the day belonged to Duke's George McAfee, Temple, which hadn't scored a touchdown in two previous games, pulled twice in one period against Texas Christian and whipped the visitors, 13-11. Holy Cross, still smarting from a terrific beating by Louisiana State the previous week, trounced Georgia, 13-0, as Catholic nipped Detroit 14-13. Harvard handed Chicago an unmerciful 61-0 beating.

Southern Methodist, which had tied powerful Oklahoma earlier in the season, fought Notre Dame on even terms most of the way and missed a tie only because of a "blown" point after touchdown with one minute to play.

Southern California handed Bob Zupke's Illinois invaders a bad 24-0 beating at Los Angeles, but the big surprise of the coast program was provided by Stanford which played UCLA to a 14-14 draw. Washington State upset Washington, 6-0, and Oregon State squeezed past Portland, 14-12.

Texas A. and M., looming as the Southwest's possible powerhouse this year, scored all its points against Villanova in the first half and then coasted. It was Villanova's first defeat in 23 games.

North Carolina and Tulane, meanwhile, upheld Southern prestige. North Carolina's Tarheels, outplayed for three periods, came with a rush in the final quarter to trip New York University, 14-7, with George Stumweis leading the parade. Tulane struck early against Fordham and then easily hung on to a 7-0 advantage.

Ohio State, Michigan and Oklahoma, meanwhile, gave striking demonstrations of power. A crowd of 55,622 saw Ohio State push over the fourth quarter touchdowns to whip Northwestern 13-0, as Bill De Correvont, Northwestern sophomore, was held to minus four yards in 11 ball-carrying attempts. After spotting Iowa a touchdown, Michigan overpowered the Hawkeyes, 27-7, as Tom Harmon scored all the Michigan points. Oklahoma, looking more and more like one of the country's great teams, routed hitherto unbeaten Texas, 24-12, although Jack Crain, Texas youngster, raced 48 and 71 yards for touchdowns in the final quarter.

Minnesota had Purdue whipped with five minutes to play but Mike Byrdline broke loose for 45 yards and the Gobblers had to be satisfied with a 13-13 draw. Indiana stopped Wisconsin, 14-0. Cleo Maddox's 80 yard run furnishing one touchdown. A fourth quarter field goal by Bob Kemnitz gave Marquette and unexpected 17-14 victory over Michigan State.

Cornell had too much on the ball for Princeton and the Big Red scored a decisive 20-7 triumph as Whit Baker raced 35 and 63 yards, respectively, to touchdowns. Navy and Dartmouth played to a disappointing 6-0 draw before 34,000 in Baltimore, and Army had to execute a passing play good for 81 yards in the final quarter to hold Columbia to a 6-6 draw. Penn put up a rugged defense against Yale and emerged with a hard won 6-0 decision.

A well-executed pass play brought Auburn an unexpected 7-0 victory over Mississippi State in the only Southeastern Conference game of the day. Erratic Vanderbilt took a 20-13 beating from Virginia Military. Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky and Georgia Tech scored routine victories over minor opponents. Furman whipped Citadel, 7-0, and Virginia Tech and Williams & Mary tied at 6-6 in a Southern Conference game as Maryland dropped a 12-7 decision to non-conference Virginia. Washington and Lee was held to a 7-7 draw by Northwestern of Tennessee.

Iowa State put up a great fight against Nebraska, but bowed, 10-7, in the only Big Six Conference game of the day. Missouri turned back Washington of St. Louis, 14-0. Kansas State won from Colorado, 20-0, and Kansas nipped Colorado State, 7-0.

Baylor showed surprising strength in trouncing Arkansas, 19-7, in a Southwest Conference test. Utah continued its swing through the Rocky Mountain Big Seven, routing Brigham Young, 35-13.

V. M. I. 20; VANDY 13

NASHVILLE—(P)—The Cadets of Virginia Military Institute swept to a 20 to 13 victory Saturday over Vanderbilt with Abisha Pritchard personally accounting for the three-period touchdowns.

The Institute's unheralded substitute quarterback scored twice himself and passed for the other tally.

Vanderbilt used the airways exclusively in getting a touchdown lead in the first period and tying the count momentarily in the third quarter.

Not All The Football Glory Goes To The College Stars

READY FOR HELL'S KITCHEN ROSE BOWL—That swivel-hip technique used in the larger football camps is good enough for these gridders in New York's Hell's Kitchen, that west side section fringing on the Hudson river docks. These are "Panthers" warming up for their football game with the "Frankensteins." Each boy had his own idea about a uniform.

BUTCH THE BIG SHOT!—You can bet that Butch "Vincent" Marino doesn't mind being a football hero to Marge Torretto (left) and Anna Calore after he and the Hell's Kitchen "Franksteins" had battled with the "Panthers" in New York.

Fumble Assists Louisiana State In Downing Rice

BATON ROUGE, La.—(P)—Taking to the air in a wild first half of flying footballs the Louisiana State University Tigers Saturday night defeated the Rice Owls 7 to 0 before 30,000 chilly fans in a game full of costly fumbles.

Ernie Lain's goal line fumble in the first quarter cost Rice a touchdown after the Owls had passed their way to the line, and it paved the way for Louisiana's thrilling 80 yard touchdown march through the air for the only center, delivered by the usual route, Leo Bird, to towering Ken Kavanaugh across the goal line.

After the wild first half both squads settled down to power plays with frequent touchdown threats ending with fumbles.

The Tigers twice lugged the ball to the ten yard line in the final half, but lacked the scoring power as Rice, benefitting from its earlier costly oversight, surrounded Kavanaugh and broke up the favorite passing combination.

The Owls got into scoring position in the first quarter when Lain fumbled back and pitched a 45 yard pass which Bob Brandon neatly fished from Bird's awaiting arms on the 2 yard line. Bird recovered Lain's fumble as he crossed.

Then the air express got into operation. Bird flipped one 25 yards to Ogden Baur, then Bidr and Charles Anastasio bucked the line for 22. After a couple of passes failed Bird flipped a 21 yard toss to Anastasio, and then Kavanaugh stepped into the end zone to take Bird's throw wide open.

Roy Joe Anderson converted from placement.

INDIANS 14; BRUINS 14
PALO ALTO, Calif.—(P)—Coming to life after two dismal defeats, Stanford's Indians battled the highly-touted University of California at Los Angeles Bruins to a 14 to 14 tie here Saturday.

So confident was Coach Babe Horrell of the Bruins that he started his second team against the Indians, who had been whitewashed by Oregon and Oregon State on two successive Saturdays. But before the scoreless first period was over Horrell had rushed his entire first string into action.

Battling on even terms, U.C.L.A. and Stanford each got a touchdown in the second period. The Indians got another to forge ahead in the third quarter and the Bruins evened the score in the final quarter.

Popeye was always enjoying himself most when strutting proudly at the end of a leash carried by the whirling majorettes of the McAllen High School band during the football night game during the football season. The lights and the noise and the crowd seemed only to make Popeye feel a little higher and strut a little prouder, particularly when it was cold enough for him to wear the Purple and Gold blanket of McAllen High School.

During such moments, he even held himself well above and aloof from ordinary dogdom, not deigning to answer a challenging growl from even the most threatening mongrel that happened to find his way into the athletic field.

Popeye was as popular with the townspeople as with the students and often received a yell from the crowd as he crookedly ahead his way along the gridiron wound of the bandmen.

Sorrowing also were Popeye's little mistresses, the two small daughters of City Commissioner and Mrs. Norman Buescher, who carefully attended him and saw that he was well-groomed for his public appearances.

Popeye died after only a few days' illness which had prevented him from attending the game Friday night between the Bulldogs and the Stephen F. Austin Mustangs in Houston.

Vast Hunting Army Bangs Whitewing Into Extinction

By HARRY FOEHNER
WESLACO—The hunters' "lightning war" against the white winged dove is about to exterminate this wonderful game bird in the Valley.

More hunters than ever before in the history of this section have descended on the whitewings and are blasting these wonderful game birds into oblivion. Charles G. Jones of Weslaco, state game warden, estimates that there have been from 200,000 to 250,000 of these birds killed and recovered by hunters in the Valley this season and many hunters admit that they recover only 40 to 50 per cent of their kill. More than 30,000 have been killed in the San Manuel section alone, he estimated.

The whitewings may be on the way out in the Valley more or less because it is a local product, scarcely ever ranging more than ten miles from its roost to its feeding grounds. The flights of the whitewings are well established. Once located they can be found again and again. Hunters tell their friends both in the Valley and upstate. Hundreds of shooters descend on the birds and they fall by the thousands. Because the whitewing is such a local bird, it would be too much to expect its supplies to be replenished from the interior of Mexico, hundreds of miles away.

Continued shooting does eventually cause the bird to seek new feeding grounds, especially the habit of shooting the birds in the forenoon. The whitewing is a late riser, leaving its roost 30 minutes or more after the morning dove has gone on his way. If the whitewings are disturbed in the morning before they have fed like any hungry thing they are likely to seek new feeding grounds but probably never so far away. Whitewings are better targets in the morning also when scattered over their feeding grounds and hunters take murderous toll. They are not such easy targets when winging home to roost in the evenings.

Not only do individual hunters go out to provide supplies for whitewinging barbecues. Sponsors of whitewinging barbecues have come to Jones to ask him about their legality.

"How many birds do you think you will need?" he is likely to inquire.

"Oh, about 200 birds," the answer may be.

"Will one person prepare the birds," the warden is then likely to ask.

If the answer is "yes" Jones is likely to point out that it is against the law to have more than the bag limit in one's possession at one time and that anyone preparing 200 birds for one feast could be charged with having 185 birds above his limit. Whitewinging barbecues where as many as 200 birds are consumed in one evening are not uncommon in the Valley.

In the United States the white winged dove is peculiar to the Valley counties. Its presence here draws hundreds of outsiders to the Valley, bringing business to hotels, filling stations, cafes and other places of business.

"Why don't these people who benefit from this business as well as the hunters who want shooting in future years do something about protecting the whitewing more?" Jones asked.

We echoed the question, "Yes, why?"

HOG FROSH WIN
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(P)—The Arkansas University freshmen Friday opened their 1939 season with a 6-0 victory over the Oklahoma A. and M. freshmen.

A pass, halfback Harold Hamberg to end Bratton Haynes, good for 21 yards, scored for the Little Pigs in the second period.

HARVARD 61; CHICAGO 0
CHICAGO—(P)—Harvard University handed the University of Chicago an unmerciful beating Saturday, 61-0, before 7,500 spectators, first stringers and reserves scoring at will on the Maroons.

Buckeyes Hand Northwestern 13-0 Setback

COLUMBUS, O.—(P)—Two last-period touchdown thrusts gave Ohio State's dark-horse gridders a 13 to 0 victory over Northwestern Saturday, before 35,622 fans, blighting Big Ten title hopes for the Wildcats.

The Bucks were held on even terms for the first three periods but exploded in the fourth when they converted a pair of Wildcat mistakes into touchdowns.

Late in the third session, Ohio's quarterback, Don Scott, dropped back on the Wildcat 30 for a pass. Rushed by Northwestern linemen, Scott side-stepped through them to the six-yard line. Scott romped over on his first play of the fourth period and booted the extra point from placement.

After an exchange of punts, Northwestern attempted to pass from its own 26. But Jack Ryan, veteran quarterback, fumbled and Ohio's alert end, Ecco Sarkkinnen, fell on the ball on the 14. Fullback James Langhurst reached the one-yard line on a jaunt around left end, and then plunged over the goal line on the next play. Scott missed the extra point kick.

Raiders Trim 'Jacks 54 To 0
LUBBOCK, Tex.—(P)—Texas Tech ran and passed to a 54-0 victory over the Arizona State Lumberjacks of Flagstaff here Saturday night for the Raiders' second victory in four starts this season. Tech registered early in the first period, driving 63 yards and featuring the slippery running and expert passing of Eugene Carl, who went over from the one-yard line for a touchdown after completing a 20-yard pass to Milton Hill.

Late in the period, Tech drove from its own 5-yard line, where center Rex Williams intercepted a pass to the Jack 30, and scored early in the second, Hill going over. Carl had passed to Bingham for 20 yards shortly before.

Despite two 15-yard penalties, the Raiders marched easily to a touchdown midway in the second period, Billy Dodd completing a 42-yard pass to Robert Duncan for touchdown.

Dodd passed to McKnight early in the third for 42 yards and a touchdown, and later the same left-hander flipped one to Bill Brown for 21 yards a touchdown.

Scores came thick and fast in the latter part of the fourth, Charley Calhoun rushing over from the 5 for the first, followed by runbacks of pass interceptions for two more. Quarterback Ty Bain intercepted one in midfield and carried it all the way back, and three plays later C. L. Storrs took one of Haskie's desperate heaves for the final counter.

ALABAMA 20; MERCER 0
TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—(P)—Alabama crushed the stubborn and battling Mercer Bears Saturday, 20 to 0, before 5,000 fans on the Crimson's home field.

Faced by Parr and Taylor, the Raymondville Bearcats smothered the Edguch-Elia Yellow Jackets, 49 to 0, on the Edguch gridiron. Parr scored four touchdowns, Taylor accounted for two while H. Graham and Bazan made one each.

Another full program is scheduled this week-end with several conference games scheduled.

McAllen Loses Bulldog Mascot
McALLEN—Hundreds of McAllen school students went into mourning Friday, and it was a dark Friday the 13th for them, because of the death of "Popeye," the huge, good-natured white bulldog mascot of all McAllen High School athletic teams.

The smaller children tumbled around with Popeye and the larger ones loved him for the swaggering but friendly defiance he always showed, so they said, toward every other school athletic team the Bulldogs ever engaged.

Popeye was always enjoying himself most when strutting proudly at the end of a leash carried by the whirling majorettes of the McAllen High School band during the football night game during the football season. The lights and the noise and the crowd seemed only to make Popeye feel a little higher and strut a little prouder, particularly when it was cold enough for him to wear the Purple and Gold blanket of McAllen High School.

McAllen's Bulldogs Boost Rio Grande Valley Football

McALLEN—While most of the Rio Grande Valley grid teams were staging their own battles among themselves the past week-end, the McAllen Bulldogs were adding prestige to Valley football by handing the Stephen F. Austin Mustangs of Houston a 23-13 trimming on their own gridiron.

When the Bulldogs chalked up their victory over the Mustangs they were staging one of the most startling upsets of the season for the Houston high school team was highly favored to win. The Mustangs grabbed an early 13-0 lead in the first half but the Bulldogs came back strong in the third quarter, their first touchdown coming in this period when H. Roberts tossed to M. Roberts who raced some 12 yards to cross the goal. The try for the extra point was good.

A few minutes later the Bulldogs worked the ball down to the Mustangs' four-yard stripe and Pete Karam crashed over. No point was added. In the fourth period the Bulldogs went into the lead, Karam again scoring. The final McAllen marker came a bit later and again it was Karam who handled the scoring chores following another Horton to Horton pass.

Eagles Show Power
The Brownsville Eagles wasted little time in scoring against the San Benito Greyhounds and went on to win their first conference scrap, 23 to 0, on the San Benito field. Bernard slipped around right end on the third play of the game and ran 55 yards for a touchdown, added a point, and then Armstrong and Petrarca combined forces and aided by a penalty, moved to the Hound six-inch line and Armstrong plunged over. The conversion failed. In the second quarter Armstrong again clicked off yardage and was soon in scoring territory and he chalked up another touchdown. The third period found a number of reserves in the game and there was no scoring. In the final quarter, Petrarca intercepted a Hound pass and ran 50 yards to cross the goal standing up. The Greyhounds fought gamely but could not stem the Eagles' attack.

Coming from behind in the last quarter the Donna Redskins posted a 12 to 6 win over the Edinburg Bobcats at Donna. The Bobcats drew first blood in the second quarter, a lateral, Mikulik to Lawrence, being good for a touchdown. The Bobcats failed to add a point. The Redskins knotted the count in the third, when Martin lateraled to Cox who ran 65 yards across the goal. In the fourth stanza, the Indians blocked a Bobcat punt and recovered the ball. A pass, Cox to Martin, carried the ball to the eight and Martin followed soon after by going over for the final touchdown.

Panthers Win
The Weslaco Panthers posted a conference win by trimming the Pharr-San Juan-Alamo Bears, 13 to 0, at Weslaco. Stevens scored the first touchdown for the Panthers from the eight-yard line and Perkins kicked the extra point. In the middle of the third quarter the Panthers hit pay dirt again when they completed a long drive by Delaney plunging over. They failed to add a point. Weslaco piled up 15 first downs to five for the Bears.

At the end of the Mission Eagles-Mercer Tiger conference tilt at Mission, the score stood 0-0 but the Eagles were able to put a win in the record book by the scant margin of two 20-yard penetrations. It was the second game of the season that the Eagles had won via the penetration route. Drawe led the Mercedes attack and the Tigers accounted for 10 first downs to six for Mission. Jackson's passing for the Eagles kept the Tiger defense on their toes throughout the game.

Turning loose a scoring attack that could not be stopped, the Rio Hondo Bobcats defeated the La Feria Lions, 27 to 6, at La Feria. Black, Cholic and Grantham combined forces to run the Lions ragged, Black scoring two touchdowns and Cholic and Grantham one each. A safety gave the Bobcats two more points. Following a pass, Simandi to Flynt, the Lions moved to the Bobcat one and Bush went over.

Faced by Parr and Taylor, the Raymondville Bearcats smothered the Edguch-Elia Yellow Jackets, 49 to 0, on the Edguch gridiron. Parr scored four touchdowns, Taylor accounted for two while H. Graham and Bazan made one each.

Military Wedding Celebrated In San Antonio Saturday Claims Wide Valley Interest

SAN ANTONIO — St. Mark's church was the scene of a lovely ceremony Saturday evening when Miss Bernice Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Burnley Phelps, became the bride of Lieutenant Cecil Hampton Childre, Air Corps, United States Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Childre of Weslaco, Texas.

Bishop W. T. Capers assisted by Reverend C. E. Canterbury, performed the simple Episcopal ceremony by candlelight. The altar was decorated with two large urns of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and autumn leaves on either side and was embellished with pale yellow tapers in gold candelabra backed with autumn leaves and smilax. The covered prie-dieu was beautiful in ivory satin enhanced with entwining smilax.

The family pews were marked with clusters of gold and bronze chrysanthemums tied with maize satin ribbon and the same ribbon was looped between the pews. Standards of pale yellow tapers lined the aisle.

The bridal music was played at the organ by Walter Dunham, as the guests assembled. Mrs. Fred Jones sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," and "O Promise Me," before the ceremony, accompanied by Mr. Dunham.

The groomsmen, in their dress blues formed a military arch with their sabers at the time of the recessional. They were Lieutenants of the Air Corps: Ralph W. Armstrong, and Howard W. Gray. Lieutenant Frederick C. Gray of Randolph Field served as best man.

The bridesmaids were gowned in costumes of fall in the autumn shades of pale gold to leaf russet. The square necks were accented with full puffed-sleeves and shirred bodices with tightly fitted corsets and pannier hoops. On their heads they wore Watteau hats adorned with clusters of fresh fall asters in bronze and yellow. They carried muffs of shirred faille to match their gowns on which were nosegays of the fall flowers with showers of bronze and yellow satin ribbons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary James Sisk of Bay City, Miss Jean Warner of Waco, Miss Dorothy Robinson of Randolph Field, and Mrs. Ralph C. Rockwood of Randolph Field.

Miss Margaret Louise Greer of Brownwood, cousin of the groom, was the junior bridesmaid. She wore pale yellow. Miss Virginia Gilliland of Austin was maid of honor and her dress was in deep leaf russet. She carried a sheaf bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums tied with a wide gold satin ribbon which fell to the floor.

The bride entered on the arm of her father. She was beautiful in her Balenciaga gown of heavy mother-of-pearl satin. The tight fitting bodice was shirred down the front and accented by a low-cut sweetheart neckline edged in pleating. The full gathered skirt fell gracefully into a long train. The sleeves were long-sleeved with joints over a mother-of-pearl satin corset edged with pleated satin, with a delicate spray of orange blossoms at either side. At the back of the cap was caught a cascade of bridal illusion in mother-of-pearl. She carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid and marked with bridal ribbon and valley lilies.

The reception was held at the

Two McAllen Hostesses Give Coffee at Buescher Home; Valley Socialites Attend

McALLEN — Ushering in the late fall delightfully was the coffee given Thursday morning from 10 a. m. until noon by Mrs. N. E. Buescher and Mrs. A. L. Hart, two of McAllen's charming hostesses.

The outstanding event, attended by 175 of the hostesses' McAllen and Upper Valley friends, was held at the Buescher home which was made more attractive by the use of large bouquets of shaggy ornamental chrysanthemums throughout the house.

The fashionable group was greeted at the door by Mrs. G. Aubrey Thoma and received by the hostesses. Assisting in the dining room and the living rooms were Mrs. Dick Harris, Mrs. Ed Haynes, Mrs. A. A. Bonneau, Mrs. Lee Hart, Jr., Mrs. S. L. Miller, Mrs. P. D. Moore, Mrs. A. Weir, Mrs. Paul Sherwood and Mrs. Orville I. Cox.

The tones of the colors were an effective contrast against the silver of the table appointments and the lace of the cloth. On the buffet an arrangement of the same flowers in yellow and silver was decorative.

Chrysanthemums in white and bronze held in green vases adorned all parts of the living room, making bright notes among the dark colors of the fall frocks worn by guests.

Veterans Bar Women, Group Told

MISSION — Early history of the Daughters of the American Revolution society was traced and its present objectives outlined to form the program presented at the luncheon Friday when members of the Colonel Henry Hill Chapter met at the Cactus Tea Room. Recounting how the organization was formed after the Sons of the American Revolution refused to permit the women to form an auxiliary unit to their organization, Mrs. Whittlesey told how the idea was conceived to form a separate order for the "daughters," which has eventually surpassed the first organization in numbers and strength. The actual organization was completed in Washington, D. C. on Columbus Day, 1890.

Growth of the D.A.R. since the turn of the century was traced by Mrs. Carl A. Roettele. Mrs. E. A. Dugat, regent, conducted the business program. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. E. L. This 'N' That

By Minnie Gilbert

SURPRISING the number of folks we've encountered the past few days who actually revel in hot weather.

But we don't remember observing such a great deal of enthusiasm when summer was having its final innings not long ago.

Perhaps if summer were renamed "winter" and vice versa, we would all enjoy the changes of season more.

At least we always feel envious in mid-July when someone postcards us, "Have to wear topcoat and sit by fire," but the same vacationists feel a little abused when it's time to drag out the stove at home.

IT'S long been our opinion that the most delightful month in the Valley is November.

The weather usually has enough snap to stir folks from summer lethargy; the orchards are brilliant with fruit; and poinsettias foretell the coming gaiety of the holiday season. And next November has two Thanksgivings!

Of course, we reserve the right to change our mind next March-April when the blossoming orgy of native trees and plants starts us off on our annual spring treatise—a term invented by Mynatt Smith to suggest our effusions over the poises.

THE big excitement in the flower world just now is the magnificently flowering Chinese fleece vine at the rear of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hunter's gorgeous garden, 222 W. Buchanan. To botanists it is known as Polygonum Amherstii.

The astonishing clusters of snowy blooms are visible a block away and well worth driving the short distance to see.

It is believed that the Hunter's fleece vine, which is tropical in origin, is the only one in the Valley.

ORCHIDS is another species of tropical flowers that may be found adaptable to Valley conditions.

Both LeRoy Buss of Weslaco and James E. Pittman of Pharr are experimenting with the growing of orchids and are encouraged by results so far.

Each has a different method and equipment but the source of their stock is said to be the same. Don't get any notions of buying orchids cheaply, though. We understand that the Weslaco man received five dollars for a Valley grown orchid.

PITTMAN can't forget the number and size of tropical flowering shrubs and trees he observed growing wild in mountains fringing the road to Mexico City, identical insofar as family background is concerned with numerous cultivated tropical plants in the Valley. Of course, the most brilliant were royal poincianas growing on the mountainsides with their tops aflame with orange-red flowers. Their size was greater than the veteran poinciana in Brownsville, he stated.

VALLEY gardeners who are past the amateur stage will value the summary of experiences in growing flowers from bulbs and corms, told by Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Godfrey in an article in this section.

The fact that the report has a scientific flavor isn't entirely due to Dr. Godfrey's connection with the Valley Experiment Station. Mrs. Godfrey is well-grounded in botany and related studies and has done intensive research on her own initiative.

QUITE the most ambitious program undertaken by any Valley club this season—so far as we know—is the sponsorship by the Harlingen Fine Arts of Clara Tree Major's Children's Little Theatre of New York.

With the possible exception of the circus, no finer entertainment has been made available to children of the Valley.

CHILDREN are also to be the major project this year for the San Benito branch of the American Association of University Women.

This group is initiating a milk supply program whereby milk will be furnished badly undernourished children.

Both the A.A.U.W. project and the Children's Theatre include provisions for patrons so persons interested may share in benefiting the children regardless of whether they are affiliated as members.

HIGHLIGHTS of the year for Valley business and professional women will be the visit of Judge Sarah Hughes of Dallas. Judge Hughes is to be guest for the District Four Conference in Brownsville next Saturday and Sunday and is one of the most interesting women in the business world today. Incidentally she is state president of B.P.W. clubs.

INDICATIONS are that manufacturers will soon be advertising particular makes of corsets to aid in preventing or diminishing office hips.

It's interesting to observe the widespread interest that the corset trend has produced. Perhaps, it isn't too far fetched to ponder whether an amusing incident of the pre-corsetless era might be repeated.

The principal in the story told with great amusement—years later—of her feelings when, fitted in a brand new garment made in the days when a corset was a corset, she arrived in the church as the congregation was standing singing a hymn.

When the congregation was seated, she didn't sit. She couldn't. She soon left.

Valley Youth Wed Recently In Kingsville

KINGSVILLE—Announcement is made by Mrs. J. O. Davis, Kingsville, of the marriage of her daughter, Marjorie Evelyn, to Willis Newman Champion of Mission, Texas. The ceremony took place Wednesday evening, October 4 at 7:30 o'clock at the family residence on West Alice before only members of the immediate family. Rev. A. H. Clark read the marriage vows.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the dining room. The table was laid with a lace cloth and in the center was a crystal bowl of pink, lavender and white flowers, while tall white tapers burned in crystal holders. From beautiful silver services the guests were served coffee and sandwiches, and other dainties. The bride cut the cake, which was served with ice cream.

The bride wore a black wool frock with a coat of same material, trimmed with a silver fox collar. Her hat was black, as were her accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The mother of the bride wore a navy blue sheer with a corsage of pink and lavender flowers. Her sister, Miss Kathryn, wore a navy blue sheer with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Immediately after the reception the couple left for Monterey, Mexico, and after several days' stay will return to Mission, where they will reside. Mr. Champion is with the Hayes-Sammons Implement Company there.

Interesting Parallels Noted As Rio Grande City Prepares For Second Federation Meet

RIO GRANDE CITY—Elaborate preparations have been virtually completed for the semi-annual meeting of the Valley Federation of Women's Clubs which assemblies Tuesday, October 24 in Garmon Theatre. Mrs. O. E. Stuart, Harlingen, will preside for the first time as president.

The convention will mark the second time Rio Grande City has been hostess for a meeting of the Valley Federation. The Rio Grande City Woman's Club, organized in 1927 with Mrs. Robert Fessenden as president, entertained the federation May 10, 1932. The Diversity club was organized in 1933 with Mrs. John Hinojosa as the first president and Mrs. Florence Scott as sponsor.

At that time a Harlingen woman, Mrs. J. J. Murray, was beginning her administration as Federation president and, tracing the coincidence even further, Mrs. Florence Johnson Scott, Rio Grande City, was program chairman.

Mrs. Scott has announced talks by Mrs. Joseph Perkins, state and district president of TFWC respectively, Eastland, and Mrs. J. T. Vance, Refugio, as highlights for the day. Both will appear during the afternoon's program.

Reports by federated home demonstration association 'civic club will be given during the morning and prizes awarded as the convention ends. Mrs. Marshall Walden, Mission, is home demonstration chairman and Mrs. Willie A. George, Brownsville, is chairman of the civics department.

Mrs. J. L. Morris, Lamesa, who was unable to accept an invitation to address the convention, will send a report of the international meeting of rural women she attended as a delegate in London last summer. She is immediate past president of the Texas Home Demonstration Association.

Luncheon arrangements will be made only for women making reservations in advance, members of the hostess committee have announced. It is especially important for delegates to make reservations or take picnic lunches, they state. Reservations should be sent to Mrs. Wm. Drummond at Ringgold Hotel. Mrs. John Hinojosa of Rio Grande City is general chairman for local arrangements. Committee chairmen are Mrs. A. J. Vale, platform; Mrs. W. M. Drummond, reservations; Mrs. Miguel Garcia, auditorium; and Mrs. J. W. Rutledge, garden tour.

Valley Gardens May Boast Irises, Other Ornamental Bulbs, Corms; Cultural Practices Described

By Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Godfrey (Editor's Note — Below is an informative, scientific, yet practical discussion of the cultivation of ornamental bulb and corm plants in the Rio Grande Valley prepared by Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Godfrey of Weslaco. The article, presented first for the Harlingen Garden Club, is reproduced in its entirety for the benefit of the Valley's gardeners and gardening enthusiasts.)

Definitions are first in order for an understanding of the different types of plants that have underground storage organs — bulbs, corms, tubers, and rhizomes.

Bulbs Defined
A bulb is a short flattened or disc-shaped underground stem upon which are attached numerous fleshy scale leaves filled with stored food. The common onion is an example. So also is the narcissus, the hyacinth, and the easter lily.

A corm is a short solid vertical enlarged underground stem in which food is stored. Examples are the gladiolus, the tulip, and the crocus.

A rhizome is an elongated horizontal underground stem, generally rich in stored food. Buds formed at intervals along rhizomes may arise to form a new plant. Examples are the iris, Johnson grass, and many ferns.

A tuber is a special type of much enlarged short fleshy underground stem attached to the parent plant by a stolon, which is stem-like rather than root-like in structure. Usually several tubers are borne in the soil around the base of the plant. Examples are the common white potato, and the tuberous-rooted begonia.

Gladioli
The Gladiolus is perhaps the best known of the ornamentals that reproduce by corms, and gladiolus culture for home cut-flower production is very successful in the Valley. Favorite varieties are: Picardy, salmon-colored; Flaming Sword, red; Maid of Orleans, white; Polar Ice and White Triumph, other whites; Golden Dawn, yellow. Glads may be planted as early as the middle of September and for a continuous succession of flowers, may be continued through till late spring. Allow 70 days after planting for flowering in early fall and late spring, and up to 90 days for winter plantings. For uniform time of blooming, for any one planting, the corms should be cool-stored at 40 deg. for 90 days before planting.

Diseases
Plant 4 to 6 inches deep (to bottom of bulb) in a well-drained place in fairly fertile soil. To take advantage of natural increase, save all the cormlets that form at the base of the parent corm. These may be stored during the summer in wood trays or flats. Plant them in the fall, or perhaps better in very early spring, in rows at 3½ times their depth. A single season of good healthy growth in fertile soil will produce corms large enough to make good flowers the following season.

Gladiolus scab is the most common gladiolus disease in the Valley. It is caused by a bacterium, Bacterium marginatum. It produces brownish lesions on leaves and leaf sheaths, and dark sunken spots on the corms. Discard all badly diseased corms. Treat planting material that shows slight infection in Calomel solution, 1 pound to 10 quarts, for 5 minutes, or in mercury bichloride 1 to 1000 (1 ounce to 7½ gallons water) for 8 hours, just before planting.

A sort of Yellows is sometimes found in Valley plantings, due to a fungus (Fusarium sp.) decay of the roots. Another soil fungus, Rhizoctonia, producing brown lesions on the leaf sheaths, and early death of leaves, dwarfs the plants and new-crop corms. The root-knot nematode, causing swellings on roots sometimes brings about almost complete plant failure. For all of these, treat planting material as for scab, and avoid infested soil in planting.

Chlorosis, or yellow-leaf is caused by too alkaline soil. Remedy: use acid-forming fertilizers such as ammonium sulfate or ammonium phosphate, and perhaps a little sulfur and copper as a side dressing in the soil.

The Easter lily bulb, like the tiger lily and some others, consists of two distinct parts: (1) a basal structure which is morphologically a rhizome, and (2), arising from this, a series of alternate layers of scales superimposed and overlapping, which is the bulk of the bulb. The roots arise from the under surface of the basal structure.

Here in the Valley we grow successfully Lilium longiflorum, particularly the Creole variety. The Creole lily is self-sterile and does not produce true seed unless pollinated by some other variety or species. When this is done the seedlings obtained are extremely variable and for practical purposes this method of reproduction is not recommended. The common method of reproduction is the asexual or vegetative method, which may be by planting scales, bulbets, or bulb divisions. In fertile loamy soils the number of fine fair-sized bulbs that will develop from the planting of scales alone is surprising. Fairly large bulbets and bulb divisions may produce flowers the first season. Because of bulb diseases and insect pests, lilies should not be planted more often than every other year in the same soil. The plants have shallow root systems, therefore deep cultivation is not recommended.

Print Exhibit Slated By Church Unit

BROWNSVILLE—A showing of photo prints and kodachrome slides by Glenn Dennis will be sponsored by the Woman's auxiliary of the Church of the Advent (Episcopal) Monday evening, October 23.

Proceeds from the event will go to the music department of the church. Mrs. James L. Abney is head of the committee in charge. Head of the sponsor group is Mrs. Fred Rustberg, Sr.

The parish house, where the exhibit will be held, will be open at 7:30 o'clock in the evening so that the pictures hung on the walls may be examined before kodachrome slides are shown at 8:15 o'clock.

Some of the prints mounted for showing are in color. Most of those to be shown are of local and Valley scenes, but there are a number taken in Mexico on Mr. Dennis' recent trip there.

The outstanding kodachrome slides are those of the altar of the Guadalupe church in Taxco, and of the Pacific Ocean taken at Acapulco. An outstanding color print is that taken at Del Mar. A scene of Taxco in moonlight is of special interest also.

One of the features of the evening will be the award of the door prize, one of Mr. Dennis' prints. Tickets are being sold for twenty-five cents.

Josephine Taylor Attends Tyler Event In Duchess' Role

TYLER—Mrs. Josephine Wells Taylor, Brownsville, is in Tyler representing the city of Brownsville as duchess to the seventh annual Texas as Rose Festival which opened in Tyler Thursday night with the first presentation of the coronation ceremonies. She will take part in all Tete affairs, being a member of the queen's court.

Miss Taylor is student of the University of Texas. She has represented Brownsville at the Bucanier celebration and represented her city at the state fair of Texas in Dallas.

A paid-up membership of 72 was reported. A talk on visual education and the social sciences was given by John D. Pickens. His talk was illustrated with scenes on the screen.

Club Begins Study Of Creative Thinkers

MERCEDES — Members of the Mercedes Delphian Chapter, at their meeting at the home of Mrs. T. J. Rippert, studied William Wordsworth in the first of a series of programs on creative thinkers. Mrs. F. R. George was leader. Mesdames Elmer Squires, H. E. Hager, F. A. Hanshaw, Perry Perkins, F. A. Harrington assisted.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Eldon B. Smith and Mrs. W. B. Lauder.

Series of Rush Week Parties Arranged by Beta Sigma Phi Ends With Tea This Afternoon

HARLINGEN—Dominating the social calendar in Harlingen for the week has been the series of rush parties given by Alpha Theta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi which will reach a climax with the tea this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul Brown who is director for the group.

Names of new pledges will be formally announced at the tea. In keeping with a tradition of the sorority a model meeting was held to inaugurate the events of rush week. Miss Leah Maud Brown was in charge of the program at the model meeting held at Mrs. Beck's home and gave important facts in the history of Beta Sigma Phi.

Of outstanding interest to members and their rushee guests was Mrs. C. L. Joyner's description of her residence in China.

Mrs. E. B. McClellan served punch from the crystal bowl placed at one end of the refreshment board while opposite was an arrangement of yellow marigolds. Yellow candles in crystal holders completed the decoration featuring the sorority colors of gold and black.

Wednesday evening's compliment to rushees was a picnic and wicker roast in Fairpark. Singing around the campfire and outdoor activity made the event one of the most enjoyable of the week.

Gaiety reached a climax in the weird atmosphere created at the home of Miss Leah Maud Brown Thursday evening for a masquerade party suggested by the Hallowe'en season. Guests, who arrived in costumes, were greeted by a ghostly figure and received in rooms strikingly decorated with black cats, and other characters expressive to the Hallowe'en season.

Equipment for games of rummy, enjoyed during the evening, repeated the Hallowe'en idea.

Vivid representation was given the chosen motif in decoration of the table where the hostesses, Miss Brown and Mrs. Tom Starkey, served cocoa from a pumpkin shell with cakes decorated in the Hallowe'en colors. Only illumination for the attractive scene came from orange candles held in two-branched candelabra of crystal.

An informal breakfast at the home of the sorority president, Miss Virginia Hammer, was an interesting event of Friday morning. Covers were laid for about twenty members and guests.

Concluding the series of parties honoring rushees was the smartly appointed luncheon of Saturday at the home of Mrs. George Beck on Arroyo Drive. Colorful autumn blossoms in shades noting the yellow and black sorority colors gave added interest to the inviting setting.

A talk on visual education and the social sciences was given by John D. Pickens. His talk was illustrated with scenes on the screen.

Tubonia, brilliant foliage plants, and duranta berries were used in table decoration. Lighted yellow tapers in crystal emphasized the autumn motif.

Included in the group of 104 were representatives of each of the affiliated garden clubs and guests from Canada and Western Texas. Mrs. W. W. Holmes, McAllen, presided during the business period. Arrangements for the luncheon were in charge of the Weslaco Garden club with Mrs. G. H. Godfrey as president.

We have such offerings in most every town in the VALLEY and anyone desiring to purchase a home would do well to investigate the investments that we have to offer. To the cash buyer, due to liquidation, we can offer real bargains and we would welcome an opportunity to show and discuss in detail any of this property.

Advance Films NEWS OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES Screen Calendar

HISTORY OF MOVIES IS SEEN IN FILM

Don Ameche and Alice Faye Are Co-Starred In 'Hollywood Cavalcade' Showing At Arcadia This Week

THE ROMANCE of Hollywood, from Mack Sennett's bathing beauties and the Keystone Cops to world premieres, is staged anew to highly entertaining results in the Technicolor screen production "Hollywood Cavalcade," co-starring Alice Faye and Don Ameche.

The screen's famous King of Comedy, Mack Sennett, acted as technical adviser and also plays himself in a scene in the picture with Buster Keaton, Ben Turpin, and Chester Conklin re-enacting their old brand of slapstick and custard-pie comedy.

Once again the alluring Sennett bathing beauties stroll by famous old Castle Rock on Santa Monica beach, as they did back in 1916. But this time, the scantily-clad brigade boasts the presence of Alice Faye among their number.

Don Ameche, who plays the director-hero of "Hollywood Cavalcade," will recall to mind, with his riding togs and leather puttees, the great megaphone-wielders of the 'teens and early '20s, while Stuart Erwin carries on the tradition of the demon cameraman who wore his cap backwards, and Donald Meek plays a pioneer producer.

Ameche directs sumptuous period pictures in the grand manner and out-does D. W. Griffith and Cecil B. DeMille in extravagance with Babylonian revels, scenes crowded with hundreds of dress extras.

The days when Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford ruled Hollywood's social life will be recalled by many when Alice Faye marries her leading man, Alan Curtis, and they become known as the "Lovers of the World."

"Hollywood Cavalcade" is scheduled for current showing Sunday and Monday at the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

'FIFTH AVENUE GIRL' IS RIVOLI FEATURE

GINGER ROGERS' new starring picture "Fifth Avenue Girl," in which she is supported by Walter Connolly, Veree Teasdale and James Ellison, is one of the most delightful and entertaining features of the year.

Very different from Miss Rogers' recent "Bachelor Mother," but even funnier at times, the new picture revolves around the hectic experiences of a working girl guest in a stately Fifth Avenue home. She is hired for the job by the discouraged head of the family, who despairs of ever persuading his wife and children to regard him as other than a walking bank-account.

The girl's advent, as expected, alters the situation considerably. The wife, thinking her husband intends to marry the girl as soon as she goes to Reno, changes her plans and decides to stick around. The son, who has been neglecting the family pump business for polo, starts to work again, and the daughter gives up her dizzy goldfish-gulping friends for a serious romance with the chauffeur.

"Fifth Avenue Girl" is scheduled for current showing Sunday and Monday at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito.

ROMANTIC STARS IN 'HONEYMOON IN BALI'

LOVELY Madeleine Carroll and handsome Fred MacMurray are co-stars in the romantic comedy "Honeymoon in Bali" turn in brilliantly humorous, though realistic performances.

In the story Miss Carroll is cast as an executive of a Fifth Avenue department store, who falls in love with MacMurray, an adventurer recently returned from Bali. But she refuses to admit that she is in love with him. Fred does his best to convince her that love has a place in her scheme of things, but when she finds herself breaking down, she flies to Nassau for a vacation.

The comedy and romance go into high gear when Fred goes back to Bali, and Madeleine, realizing that she loves him, follows him there, only to learn that he plans to marry another girl!

Involved in the proceedings in featured roles are Helen Broderick, Osa Massen and Carolyn Lee, new child "find."

"Honeymoon in Bali" is scheduled for current showing Sunday and Monday at both the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, and the Ritz Theatre in Weslaco.

FEMININE TRIO STARRED IN 'THE WOMEN'

FROM start to finish there isn't a single man visible in the screen adaptation of Clare Booth's sensational Broadway stage success "The Women." However, the women talk of nothing else. They let down their hair and kiss, bite, and scratch in their eternal battle to win and hold a male.

Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell share co-starring honors with the featured supporting cast including Mary Boland, Paulette Goddard and Joan Fontaine.

"The Women" is scheduled for current showing Sunday and Monday at the Palace Theatre in McAllen.

'FAST AND FURIOUS' IS HIT COMEDY

ANN SOTHERN, following her hit performance in "Maise," makes a delightful screen wife for Franchot Tonne, who returns to the screen in the mystery-comedy "Fast and Furious" after a season on the Broadway stage.

The two, as a young married couple, become involved in a double murder mystery while on their vacation at a seaside resort. Tonne's best friend, played by Lee Bowman, is held for the murders and the plot revolves around the former's efforts to free him. To add to the entertainment possibilities, the entire action takes place during a beauty pageant, and Tonne gets herself in trouble with Miss Sothern by accepting a position as a beauty judge. After many happenings, some nearly disastrous, the actor solves the crimes and also squares himself with his wife.

"Fast and Furious" is scheduled for showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre in Brownsville, and at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito, Wednesday and Thursday.

GINGER ROGERS, starred in "Fifth Avenue Girl," currently featured Sunday and Monday at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito.

Casts And Forecasts

THE SCREEN has a new glamour-girl, who went to Hollywood from Broadway. But she went to Broadway from San Antonio, which we feel gives the Valley a half-interest in Brenda Marshall.

Brenda Marshall, was Ardis Ankeron when she went to Alamo Heights High School in San Antonio, but changed her name when cast in the leading feminine role opposite Errol Flynn in the forthcoming screen epic "Virginia City," which will be made as a sequel to his "Dodge City."

IN AT LEAST a half-dozen coming pictures, starting top-ranking plays, now in production or nearing release, early American life and personalities will be glamorized.

The current crop of historical movies will include "Northwest Passage," "Drums Along the Mohawk," "Gettysburg," "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and "Allgehehy Uprising."

A STORY that will linger long in the memory of all who see it is "The Old Maid," which co-stars Bette Davis and Miriam Hopkins. The picture was adopted from the widely read novel of the same title, written by Edith Wharton and made into a stage play by Zoe Akins, which won the Pulitzer Prize.

THE SCREEN'S romantic lovers of "Four Daughters" and "Daughters Courageous," John Garfield and Priscilla Lane are again co-starred in "Dust Be My Destiny." Based on the novel of the same title by Jerome O'Donnell, the film probes deeply into the problem of the young "nobodies" of this generation, who wander over the country, seeking jobs and a "place to hang their hats."

INTRODUCING a new star find, and a new family everyone will love, the new screen musical "The Underpup" has in its title role, eleven-year-old Gloria Jean, who promises to follow successfully in the footsteps of her predecessor, Deanna Durbin. Prominently featured in the supporting cast to little Gloria Jean are Nan Grey, Robert Cummings and Margaret Lindsay.

ALICE FAYE and Don Ameche in the spectacular Technicolor screen romance "Hollywood Cavalcade," currently featured Sunday and Monday at the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen.

GARY COOPER STAR IN FILM

'The Real Glory' Is Stirring Drama

Gary Cooper's new starring picture "Real Glory," presents a thrilling and manifestly authentic account of the United States Army activities in the Philippine Islands in 1935, following the Spanish-American war.

Opposite Cooper Andrea Leeds and David Niven turn in capital performance, the brunette beauty as a visiting American, and Niven as one of Cooper's buddies. Other first-rate portrayals are handled by such outstanding players as Reginald Owen, Broderick Crawford, Kay Johnson, Russell Hicks and Henry Kolker.

"The Real Glory" was directed from a screenplay written by Jo Swerling, and it abounds in thrills, romance, action and color. "Real Glory" is scheduled for showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Palace Theatre in McAllen and at the Rivoli Theatre in San Benito, Friday and Saturday.

'The Rains Came' Will Star Power

Tyrone Power, Myrna Loy and George Brent are co-starred in the screen adaptation of Louis Bromfield's famed novel "The Rains Came," scheduled for current showing Sunday and Monday at NORMA SHEARER, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell in the picturization of Clare Booth's Broadway stage success "The Women," currently featured Sunday and Monday at the Palace Theatre in McAllen.

LANA TURNER IS NEW CO-ED

Artie Shaw's Band Is In Dancing Film

"Dancing Co-Ed," starring Lana Turner and Richard Carlson, with Artie Shaw and his band is a parade of youth, plus romance, comedy and glamour.

As musical numbers, Shaw offers "Nightmare," "One Night Stand," "Wire Brush Stomp," among many of his popular hits, with two new ones added, "Stealing Apples" and "Racket Rhythm." For the screen fans who are not so interested in swing music, there is a madcap story of a little vaudeville hooper who goes to college at the suggestion of a press agent to win a ration-wide contest for the best dancing co-ed and a starring role in a Hollywood production.

"Dancing Co-Ed" is fun from beginning to end. There is plenty of music and lots of comedy. On the dancing side of the entertainment ledger is Lana Turner who does three specialties, including one with Lee Bowman; Ann Rutherford, who dances for the first time in her life on the screen, but good; June Preisner in breathtaking specialties and our old friend Leon Errol of the rubber legs.

"Dancing Co-Ed" is scheduled for showing Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Arcadia Theatre in Harlingen, and at the State Theatre in Mercedes, Thursday and Friday.
